Young Will Serve State in Two Roles

PRESIDES IN SENATE DAY OF OPENING

Governor-elect Will Fill Old Position As Curtain Goes Up at 47th Session

TAKES OATH TUESDAY

California's 26th Chief Executive Will Be Busy Man in Capitol Building

ILLINOIS presents to the Senate its most embarrassing problem. Governor Leg. Smith, who is still out of jail, has appointed Senator-elect Frank L. Smith, who probably could not be convicted, to fill the brief vacancy caused by the death of Senator McKinley. What will have been done about it, readers may know before this can reach California from Washington to be printed. But, whatever may be done or avoided now, the same question arises in the next Congress, along with the equally unpleasant cases of Senators Vane of Pennsylvania and Gould of Maine.

ONE trouble is that there is strictly no legal case against any of these men. They have probably violated no law, and it would not vitiate their election if they had. Especially could there be no legal case against Col. Smith under Gov. Small's appointment for the short term. If the Governor had the indecency to make the appointment and the Colonel the impudence to accept it—and since when has either of them lacked these qualities?—the appointee has an indisputable legal title to the seat. If any court had jurisdiction, a writ to compel his seating would plainly lie. Fortunately, or unfortunately, the Senate is its own court, and if it chooses to violate its own law, or even the Constitution, no one else is empowered to do anything about it. Senators have been seated who were under age, and unseated for disqualifications which the Constitution does not recognize as such. It is a dangerous precedent, and may lead some day to intolerable abuses; but it can be done.

HOWEVER, disregarding these legalistic difficulties, which can be met, if necessary, simply by arbitrarily overriding them, there still remains in these cases, and in the conditions which they reflect, a situation which, if unchecked, might even challenge another Progressive uprising on the old lines of common honesty and corporate supergovernment, which we had thought happily behind us. The last of the money-changers who invaded the Executive departments of the Harding administration have just been found not guilty, and now come others, who could doubtless also be acquitted, to invade the legislative chambers. The sordidness which marked two other periods of reaction, in time of President Grant, and of Mark Hanna, and whose last representatives were thought exterminated in California in 1910, is reappearing, not as a sporadic individual instance, but as a system, in our public life.

FORTUNATELY, now, nobody demands it. Even the political Old Guard, while it may protect its funds, repudiates the system. The present obdurate of reform finds us better than when we started. The American people, at the time of the Harding administration scandals, showed their confidence that the evils could be cured inside the political structure, without even changing parties, and it was so done. The comparatively slight changes at the last election, after these scandals in Senatorial primaries were as well known as now, indicates that they are still of the same opinion. They expect the Senate to protect and cleanse itself—expect it even too much, since in strict law it has no right to do so. There is no sign of outright revolt on this ground.

BUT if American government can be not honest and unthought; if elections are to represent, not people, but money; and if that money is to represent, not generous enthusiasm for a cause, but the indirect purchase of governmental favors—then democracy does not rise, even to the dignity of failure. It simply ceases to exist. Common honesty is not an exacting standard of government, but until that is attained nothing else is worth trying for. American elections have not lost that quality. The gross crimes that were once commonplace have nearly disappeared, and even the subtler ways of making money count are not general. But they have recently become very conspicuous, in some startling cases.

NOW is the challenge, to an aroused public sentiment, to see to it that they are tolerated no more. They have disappeared from the national administration. Nobody suspects graft there. Their recent invasion of the legislative branch leaves it with only doubtful, and seriously illegal methods to pursue itself. The real evil is not the people, but with them the cure must lie. This newest corruption has been, not in government, but in the elections. It has paid to do some things which ought to have been suicidal. A properly alert public determination can make them so. Let it become a tradition of practical politics that no man henceforward can carry either a primary or an election who uses the methods which Vane and Smith found profitable.

Renewed vigilance at this point can make organized revolt unnecessary.

IMPERIAL OFFICIAL UNDER INDICTMENT

EL CENTRO, Dec. 31.—Walter D. Smith, city treasurer of Imperial, was at liberty under bonds today following his indictment by the Imperial county grand jury on charges of embezzling public funds.

Smith was indicted on the specific charge of misappropriating $5000 in city funds, after months of investigation by county prosecutors and the grand jury.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 31.—When the curtain rises on the first act of California's political drama, the 47th legislative session, next Monday, one player will be seen in two roles. He is Governor-elect C. C. Young, who, as lieutenant governor, will open the session, preside until its organization is complete, and the following day take the oath of office as the Golden State's 26th governor.

Gov.-elect Young, in his message to the legislature, is not expected to ignore the highway situation. According to persons close to the new governor, his address will contain definite recommendations, both for financing new roads and reorganization of the highway commission.

The plan of the governor-elect, it is reported, is to establish an advisory commission of five men to serve without pay, with a salary directing head of the commission to be in complete charge.

Who will succeed Thomas M. Gannon as chief of the legislative council bureau is a matter that is exciting much speculation in Capitol corridors. Opinion has it that Young's choice will lie between Paul Mason and Hiatt C. Hiatt, deputies, both with much experience and both candidates for the position.

Back in Line for Re-election
Joseph Beck, Balboa, secretary of the senate, and Arthur Ohlman, of San Francisco, veteran clerk of the assembly, are in line for re-election. The Rev. Bryant Wilson, pastor of the First Baptist church, Sacramento, will be proposed for chaplain of the senate by Senator J. M. Inman, of Sacramento, while the Rev. Watson Brown, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, will be nominated for assembly chaplain by Assemblyman Percy G. West.

Much interest is centering around Governor-elect Young's first budget, as a result of his selection of A. R. Heron as chairman of the board of control and administration budgetmaker. Young is the first Governor-elect ever to sit in on budget hearings.

An idea of the minimum requirements of the budget is given in the estimate of State Controller Ray L. Riley that demands on the state's general fund for the next two years will total $118,000,000.

Revenue of 113 Millions
Revenue for the period was estimated at $113,000,000 by the state board of equalization, to which a surplus of $20,000,000 now in the state coffers may be credited.

CHATHAM ISLANDS RESIDENTS OBSERVE NEW YEAR'S DAY IN ADVANCE OF REST OF WORLD

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand, Dec. 31.—New Year's Day commenced in the Chatham Islands, 414 miles southeast of Wellington, Australia, at 7 o'clock this morning, eastern standard time. By the time the New Year's siren shriek in New York, those of the Chatham Islanders, who have been able to get up following their festivities, will have laid away the wet towels from the feverish heads, will have had breakfast luncheon and tea and be thinking about what their stomachs will stand for the evening meal of Jan. 1, 1927.

Of all the people in the world the little colony of 220 Britishers in the Chatham Islands are each year the first to greet the new year. Theoretically, the symmetrical 180th meridian from Greenwich is the starting point of every day. But this meridian cuts through several islands and the northeast corner of Asia, and its use for time purposes would involve awkward calendar complications.

40 CITIES WILL HAVE FLOATS IN PASADENA FETE

750,000 Are Expected to Attend Annual Rose Tournament

PASADENA, Dec. 31.—Forty Pacific coast cities, represented by more than 100 floral floats, will compete in the annual Tournament of Roses parade, here tomorrow.

The procession, the 38th Rose fete, precedes the inter-sectional football clash between the University of Alabama and Stanford. Approximately 750,000 visitors are expected here for the floral display.

In the five miles of pageant will be 300 units, the most ever assembled in a Rose Tournament display.

The floats of coast cities from Tacoma to San Diego will be in the line of march.

William L. Trager, sheriff of Los Angeles county, who captained the Stanford team which played in the first Tournament of Roses football game, will head the procession.

City's Guests to Follow
He will be followed by guests of the city, including Francesco Miller, of Chicago, who wrote the official Rose Tournament song, "Roses Are in Bloom," and Carrie Jacobs Bond, who composed the music.

The floats and other floral units will be next in line. The sweepstakes prize is the goal of all the entries.

Beverly Hills, interpreting "Sitting on Top of the World," was a heavy pre-parade favorite, due to the galaxy of movie stars who will cluster its float. Tom Mix, Pauline Frederick and Ruth Roland will be associated with the Beverly Hills entry. Will Rogers, newly-elected mayor and self-styled Bolshevik dictator, may ride the Beverly Hills float also.

Sweepstakes Contenders
Glendale, Long Beach and San Bernardino, the former two sweepstakes winners in recent years, are mentioned as formidable contenders.

The game which follows the parade will feature two of the strongest teams of the country and will be witnessed by the largest number of spectators ever to see a Rose bowl contest.

The greatest feat of radio broadcasting in history will bring a hook-up of 50 stations to get direct play-by-play results from the field.

EDWARDS QUILTS AS MEMBER OF HIGHWAY BOARD

Governor Accepts Orange Man's Resignation As Commissioner

The resignation of Nelson T. Edwards, of Orange, as a member of the state highway commission, was accepted today by Gov. Friend W. Richardson, according to word received here from Sacramento.

The announcement brought first news that Edwards had resigned. His resignation, it was learned, was forwarded to the governor early this week. The governor's acceptance, it was said, was accompanied by an expression of appreciation for the Orange man's service during his term of office.

Commissioner Edwards could not be reached today for a statement, but from sources close to Edwards it was learned that his resignation was presented as a gesture of courtesy to the incoming governor, C. C. Young, and that Edwards would be willing to accept reappointment from Governor Young, if it was tendered him.

Chairman Harvey M. Toy, of the highway commission, has also resigned, and Louis Evenden, third member of the commission, is expected to present his resignation today.

According to information gained today, the entire membership of the highway commission communicated some time ago with Governor-elect Young, asking his pleasure regarding their future connection with the commission, appointments to which are subject to termination at the will of the governor. No reply was received to this communication, it was said. The commissioners therefore, it was said, decided to resign to avoid an embarrassing situation, and to leave the new governor free to reappoint them or fill their places with other appointees.

Wool Consumption Drops
Wool consumption aggregated about 510,000,000 pounds, a slight falling off from the 1925 figures, when 526,355,000 pounds were used. Silk consumption slightly increased, however, with about 509,000 bales, compared with 501,243 bales last year.

Stimulated by export demand, bituminous coal production had a good year, with about 575,000,000 tons over last year.

Copper mined this year netted $80,000,000. More than 748,000 barrels of crude petroleum were produced. Pig iron production aggregated nearly 40,000,000 tons. All these were increases over the 1925 output.

Steel manufacturers had a banner year, turning out about 48,000,000 tons, an increase of nearly 4,000,000 tons over last year.

Railroads reported about 54 million cars loaded in the 12 months, compared with 51,184,000 cars loaded in 1925. Car loading is considered by many as the best business barometer available.

Business Failures Fewer
Business failures this year were slightly less numerous than in 1925, with slightly more than 20,000 firms reporting bankruptcy, compared with 21,214 last year.

BUSINESS AT HIGH RECORD AS YEAR ENDS

Government Officials and Other Leaders Optimistic on Outlook for 1927

RETAIL TRADE IS GOOD

Agriculture in U. S., However, Still Is Suffering From Post-War Deflation

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 31.—America's business barometer stood at new record highs today, as the year 1926 closed, with no indication that it would fall in 1927.

Government officials and other leaders in public life predicted generally that the new year will be as prosperous as the old. They said the country is in prime condition.

President Coolidge pictured the coming year as one likely to be as successful as 1926. Conditions are sound and business is good, he said.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon said the "year has been satisfactory to the last and prosperity is continuing." He attributed this largest year in business of any nation in the world to "hard work."

Wage Rates Highest Ever
Secretary of Commerce Hoover described the year as "one never surpassed in history." Consumption and production of all commodities established new high records and wage rates were the best ever recorded, Hoover said.

America is closing the year with a favorable trade balance of about $375,000,000. Exports totaled approximately $4,325,000,000, while imports amounted to $4,450,000,000. Exports this year were $84,000,000 less than in 1925, while imports were $225,000,000 greater.

Mail order houses, 5 and 10-cent stores, grocery, drug, cigar, chain grocery and other similar retail stores reported from 5 to 30 per cent increase in sales this year over last. Two large mail order houses reported their sales at about $455,000,000.

Greatest Business Turnover
The great business turnover for the year was shown by check payments, which in 1926 aggregated approximately $600,000,000, compared with $569,787,000,000 in 1925.

Automobile production was even greater this year than last. About 4,446,000 motor vehicles were made in 1926, compared with 4,175,000 in 1925.

While Secretary Mellon said there has been some overbuilding in the country, commerce department figures show that in 36 states, building contracts aggregated $52,444,000 square feet, compared with $89,454,000 square feet last year.

Domestic cotton consumption this year will total only about 6,600,000 bales, while the crop is estimated at 18,000,000 bales. The resulting surplus has caused a depression in southern states, the only section of the country where the prosperity boom has not been general.

Fall's Condition Turns for Worse
EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 31.—The condition of A. B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, had taken a change for the worse today, his physician, Dr. A. B. Safford, announced, after a consultation with two specialists.

"He was so restless during the early morning hours that opiates were necessary," Dr. Safford said. Fall was stricken with pneumonia on his return from Washington, D. C.

Grand Secretary Of I. O. O. F. Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31.—Members of the Odd Fellows lodge from all parts of California will come here Monday for the funeral of U. S. G. Clifford, grand secretary of the lodge in California, who died yesterday from pneumonia. Clifford was a native Californian, born 63 years ago in Oroville. He was grand secretary of the lodge for the last three years, serving as assistant grand secretary for 30 years previous. He resided in Burlingame.

Catastrophe May Follow Spots on Sun

(By United Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 31.—Whatever dreadful or catastrophic happens in the years 1927 to 1929 may be attributed to sun spots, in the opinion of Prof. A. Tchijevsky, of the University of Moscow, who prepared a paper read before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, in session here.

"We are slaves of the sun," said the Russian meteorologist, who warned that the ensuing three years might "change the political chart of the world."

Tchijevsky's theory was accompanied by a new field of science, "historiometry." In detail, he traced the coincidences of great sun spot activity with the great upheavals of human history.

Solar disturbances will reach their maximum between now and 1929, the professor said, and the three-year period will be marked "by a great human activity of the highest historical significance."

SITUATION WITH MEXICO ACUTE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—The "critical situation" between the United States and Mexico, which Secretary of State Kellogg described in his last note of protest over the Mexican alien oil laws, became dangerously acute today, in the opinion of informed officials.

The protested laws become effective at midnight tonight. They provide for seizure by the Mexican government of American oil properties acquired before 1917, and valued at $500,000,000, except where owners have exchanged titles for the protested "concessions."

The state department said it had no information indicating that Mexico would postpone operation of the law, or that any large number of American oil interests had conformed to the law. The deadlock was, therefore, described as complete.

AMERICANS HELD FOR $5000 RANSOM

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Dec. 31.—J. W. Wiley and E. B. Connor, American miners, kidnapped Tuesday night by Mexican bandits, today were being held for $5000 ransom, advices received by the U. S. embassy said. No details of the kidnapping had been received. Wiley and Connor were employees of the British-owned San Francisco mine, near Parral, state of Chihuahua.

RAIN MAY MARK NEW YEAR'S EVE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31.—It may be a "moist" New Year's eve in more ways than one in California tonight.

Taking advantage of its last chance of the year to register pessimism, the U. S. weather bureau here today held out little hope for anything but generally unsettled, cloudy, foggy and possibly rainy weather for revelers welcoming the New Year babe.

Amidst "do's" and "don'ts," the weather man advises promenaders of confetti-wracked main streets to carry umbrellas if not already carrying too much of "something else."

Possible rain and certain cloudy, unsettled weather is predicted for all sections of the state excepting the San Joaquin valley, where the forecast is for fair weather.

"Slightly warmer" weather throughout the state will prevail for the first time in a week tonight and tomorrow.

Craftsman to Get Increase in Pay

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31.—San Francisco craftsmen in practically all building trades will receive, starting tomorrow, higher wage scales, ranging from 50 cents a day to as much as $2 a day in one instance. The increases are the result of the city's largest building contractors accepting the higher wage scales recently granted building trades by the impartial wage board.

DEMAND WEBB REMOVE KEYES AS PROSECUTOR

Los Angeles Citizens Are Enraged on McPherson Case Attitude

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—Protesting against the reported intention of the prosecution to drop the Aimee Semple McPherson conspiracy case, a group of Los Angeles citizens, including prominent churchmen, today sought to have District Attorney Asa Keyes removed from office.

Demand for the ouster of the prosecutor was wired to Attorney General U. S. Webb, in San Francisco, and was sent also to the Los Angeles county grand jury. The grand jury was asked not to take any action in the McPherson case until the attorney general has had time to act on Keyes.

Called Huge Fraud
"The whole affair has been a gigantic fraud upon the taxpayers of Los Angeles," said the Rev. R. P. "Bob" Shuler, who leads the church elements which demand that the prosecution of Mrs. McPherson be pushed vigorously, and that Keyes be ousted.

"I have felt from the outset that Keyes' prosecution of the McPherson case has been conducted in a half-hearted manner. The district attorney's office has succeeded in making Los Angeles the laughing stock of the nation."

Whether the McPherson case will be dropped or not depends upon the report of the grand jury which convenes Tuesday.

Although Keyes said yesterday the prosecution of the evangelist probably would be dropped because of the difficulty of getting at the truth of the affair, he indicated today that he will push the case through.

Keyes' Attitude Changed
Keyes' attitude apparently was changed by the appearance of the state's star witness, Mrs. Lorraine Wieman, before the grand jury. Wieman, before the grand jury, said she had perjured herself, in view of which he doubted any conviction of Mrs. McPherson for conspiracy would be probable.

After the grand jury adjourned without action, however, Keyes said last night that she had only changed details of her testimony.

WEBB REFUSES TO REMOVE KEYES

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31.—"The telegram is hardly worth comment," Attorney General U. S. Webb told the United Press today, referring to a request from Los Angeles, that he remove from office District Attorney Asa Keyes, of Los Angeles county.

The request, signed by a "Dr. Middelkamff," was received by the attorney general this morning.

"On the strength of this request or any others that may come of a similar character, there will be no action on my part to remove District Attorney Keyes or any other Los Angeles officials at this time," the attorney general declared.

Wounded to Number of 129 Are Removed by Doctors To Bluefields Hospitals

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Dec. 31.—American aviators with the Nicaraguan constabulary, according to a government announcement today, have reported the landing on Nicaraguan soil, near Cosiguna, of a quantity of arms for the Liberal army from the gun runner Temporal.

(By United Press)
BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, Dec. 31.—Two hundred eighty men were killed and many wounded in the fierce three-day battle between Conservative and Liberal troops, at Laguna Las Perlas, eyewitnesses arriving here reported today.

Doctors have already brought 129 wounded soldiers from the battlefield to hospital camps here. They also brought the first authentic reports of the fighting and number of casualties.

The reports showed the battle was more severe and the defeat of the Conservatives more ignominious than at first reported.

Rigid censorship by officials of President Diaz's Conservative government was still in operation here today and even more severe censorship has recently been operative at Puerto Cabezas, where American naval forces imposed rules regulating communications.

EDITOR FREED BY SENTENCING JUDGE

EUREKA, Calif., Dec. 31.—Alfred Linsley, editor of a weekly newspaper here, was released from the county jail today, after serving 10 months and four days of a 100-day sentence for contempt of court.

Linsley was ordered released by Judge Denver Sevier, who sentenced him, on the last day of the judge's tenure of office, he having been defeated for re-election this fall.

Linsley was sentenced to jail by Judge Sevier, at the climax of a bitter attack in his newspaper on law enforcement in Humboldt county.

The court gave him the choice of a jail sentence or a fine of $5000, and the editor refused to pay the fine.

For a time he edited his newspaper from his jail cell, and solicited interest in his case throughout the country, among newspaper editors, claiming that the right of free speech was imperiled by his sentence.

COBB, SPEAKER IN JOINT LEGAL FIGHT

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 31.—Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker will go to bat together in legal action against baseball scandal charges, they announced through their counsel following a joint conference here this afternoon.

The brief announcement said: "After full discussion of all matters affecting Mr. Cobb and Mr. Speaker, we are prepared to say that there will be complete cooperation and unity of action on behalf of both."

"We will not be prepared to announce the form which such action will take until at least some time next week."

SALES EXPERT SPEAKS BEFORE CYCLE DEALERS

Motorcycle dealers of Orange county and their sales representatives held an enthusiastic sales conference here last night in the sales room of N. H. Hilton, Harley-Davidson distributor for Orange county.

Seymour Schulte, national authority on modern selling methods, was the principal speaker.

Schulte, who has spent many years in selling generally and particularly life insurance, illustrated how the selling methods used in various other lines might be applied to making motorcycle sales, emphasized the importance of adhering to the truth and brought out the fact that productive sales work was more along the line of acting as an advisor, and giving information regarding the particular article to be sold rather than the usual high-pressure get-the-money method.

Interest and curiosity must be excited in a prospect before a sale can be consummated and the salesman who does this most effectively is the man who sells, principally by giving information and advice, the speaker pointed out.

Hilton is inaugurating a novel plan, to interest more persons in motorcycles, in which a motorcycle riding school for the general public will figure. During the month of January regular classes will be conducted by J. M. Lincoln, of the Santa Ana agency. Classes will include lectures on the general operation of the entire power generating mechanism. Hilton said that the Harley-Davidson single, the new type motorcycle, will be used in this work, as it is suited to the novice, being light, easily managed and the control simple.

"Lincoln has taught hundreds to master this little machine and has done so without a single mishap," Hilton said.

One of these new-type "singles" is to be given away by Hilton at the conclusion of the classes. Those who take the riding course will be given a credit on the purchase of a motorcycle, if they desire, Hilton said.

BOY DIES UNDER WHEELS OF TRUCK

The danger of boys on bicycles grasping hold of trucks or trailers was demonstrated yesterday afternoon, in Long Beach, when a wheel of a trailer of a truck owned by the Van Dien-Young company, of Santa Ana, crushed the head of John McCloud, 12, of 816 Los Alamitos street, Long Beach, killing him instantly. L. H. Babcock was driving the truck. The accident occurred at the corner of Anaheim avenue and Junipero street, Long Beach.

McCloud was one of two boys on bicycles hanging to the opposite sides of the trailer, their presence being unknown to the driver.

Babcock's first knowledge of the accident was when witnesses to the accident called to him.

"This should be a warning to boys of Santa Ana, who are in the habit of doing just what McCloud and his companion were doing," H. B. Van Dien said, in commenting on the accident.

"Riding a bicycle, and hanging onto any kind of a moving vehicle is dangerous, for one never can tell when a stone or rut in the road may cause the rider to be dismounted."

Concludes Term But Isn't Freed

Today was the day that Bernardo Greenberg, an Austrian, was to have walked from the county jail, a free man, after serving 10 months for violation of the U. S. immigration laws, but instead of being freed, he was held on an order from Los Angeles.

According to jailers, Greenberg is being held for deportation. Greenberg formerly was a merchant in Tia Juana, according to jail records.

Enoch Arden Role Is Prepared for Long Missing Man

The role of an Enoch Arden was prepared today for Leslie R. May, former Santa Ana grocer, who disappeared from his home at 1144 Bush street, in October, 1915.

Declaring him legally "dead," his daughter, Margaret Huffman, of Los Angeles, filed a petition in superior court here, asking appointment as administratrix of the estate, which consists of the North Bush street property.

The daughter now is sole legal heir of May, she states. Her mother, Bertha May, divorced May in 1921, after he had been absent for six years. According to the petition filed by the daughter, nothing ever has been heard from May since his disappearance, so that he was legally presumed to be dead on Nov. 1, 1922, seven years after his disappearance.

So far as court officials could recall today, the petition is the first of its kind to be filed in this county.

2 HURT AS CAR PLUNGES OVER CANYON CLIFF

Two persons, Mrs. Angie Stewart, of 250 East Piedmont street, Pomona, and her son-in-law, J. F. McClellan, 88, of 436 East Third street, La Verne, were injured, Mrs. Stewart seriously, when the sedan, driven by McClellan, plunged over a 300-foot cliff in Santa Ana canyon last night, according to a report from Fullerton today.

Mrs. Stewart was badly hurt about the head. In the Pomona Valley hospital to which both of the accident victims were taken in a Seale ambulance, it was said that her skull probably was fractured. McClellan escaped with a severe shaking up and possible internal injuries.

McClellan was quoted as saying that when a car suddenly appeared around a corner in the canyon without lights, the driver suddenly turning on them as he perceived the McClellan sedan, that Mrs. Stewart, in her fear, grabbed the steering wheel and steered the car over the cliff.

McClellan was thrown from the car when it turned over the second time. Mrs. Stewart could not escape until after the automobile had come to a stop at the bottom of the canyon, after having turned over 18 or 20 times.

The driver said that a $1500 diamond ring was torn from his finger when he was thrown out.

BARR EMPLOYEES ARE ENTERTAINED

The dining room of the I. O. O. F. hall at Orange was the scene of the fifth annual dinner of the Barr Lumber company Thursday evening, with the Orange yard of the company acting as host.

Wilbur Barr, manager of the yard at Orange, presided as toastmaster. For a short while following the dinner, the group was entertained by the Higgins brothers, of Orange, in popular songs. O. H. Barr, of Santa Ana, president of the company, then gave a greeting.

Following this talk, two of Santa Ana's most popular artists, Maurice Phillips and "Bob" Bradford, accompanied respectively by Harry Garstang and Miss Ruth Armstrong, responded with solos.

V. E. Johnson, secretary of the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce, gave a talk.

E. Steffenson, lumber efficiency expert, gave a short talk, complimenting the neatness in appearance of all the Barr Lumber company yards, and the courtesy of officers and employees, and stressing the value of team work such as is manifest in this organization.

Dr. Thomas Barr, of Whittier, grandmaster of the toastmaster, was present and gave the invocation. Plates were set for 132 persons.

BOY INJURED WHEN KNOCKED FROM BIKE

Louis Pratt, 15, Newport road, suffered a fractured left collar bone at 9 o'clock last night, when he was knocked from his bicycle when two cars collided at Fourth street and Tustin avenue, Tustin, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office.

The boy was taken to his home and was able to be about today. According to a report filed by Ed Martin, San Juan Caristrano, driver of one of the cars in the crash, his machine collided with a car driven by James L. Wiley, Santa Ana, route No. 2.

Wiley also made a report at the police station.

Local Business Firms, Offices Close Tomorrow

To give their employees the full benefit of the holiday virtually every business establishment in Santa Ana will remain closed all day tomorrow, New Year's day.

Santa Ana post office windows will not be open and there will be no delivery of mail during the day. Offices at the city hall and at the courthouse will remain closed. The Register, however, will be published as usual.

S. A. Animals Have Hospital BANKING CONCERNS LOSE BY PETTY PILFERING

"Bob Consultation" Latest

SEE-SAWING Up and Down FOURTH STREET

By The Rambler

Birds of Santa Ana, by which we refer to the real feathered kind, and dogs and cats and other household pets, have their surgeon, too.

For birds fall heir to ills like ours. They have their tumors, their sore throats, their colds, their dietary ailments. Dogs and cats have their broken legs and their sore "tummies" and their ingrown claws.

To the birds and animals suffering these ills is now offered in Santa Ana a peaceful refuge—an animal hospital.

In this unorthodox hospital there is an operating room with its customary shining case of instruments. There are cushions whereon the injured and sick animals may lay their weary heads, and there are pleasant spots where wounds can be washed and treated. There is all the most fastidious bird or animal could request.

There is told the story of the parrot who wouldn't talk and was taken to the hospital and the doctor discovered that Polly was suffering from what was akin to a tumor under the tongue.

Now Polly insists on telling everything about "my operation."

A scrivener of the imaginative genius of an O. Henry might weave a highly interesting tale from such fabrics as these:

Santa Ana banking concerns estimate that they expend as much as $10 a year for pen points at customers' check-writing counters. The reason is not that the pen points wear out from usage because it takes a good many pen points to cost as high as $10 every 365 days. Petty pilfering is the chief cause of this item charged to "overhead expense." A customer enters the bank to write a check or fill out a deposit slip and is duly impressed by the smooth flow of ink from the pen furnished him. Bank officials make it a "point" to see that their pen

Parking Trees
Last week the writer took up the subject of trees suitable for drives and parkings. This article is devoted to a few more of the numerous suitable varieties.

Acacias
The acacia family is a great deal like the eucalyptus. There are dozens of the acacias and yet only a few are well known. To many of those who own a black acacia, this family of trees does not appeal. There are some very good types.

Floralunda
The acacia floralunda perhaps is the most free blooming of all. Although not a large tree, it attains sufficient height to be of beauty and afford ample shade. The leaves are long and narrow and for quite a long period dense clusters of round yellow flowers appear freely.

Another advantage of this type is that the roots do not destroy walks and curbs as is true of the black acacia.

Baileysana
The silver wattle, or acacia baileysana, has the most beautiful foliage of the entire group and the flowers are the same as the floralunda.

It often has been described as a large silver fern-like tree. This is very much the appearance it gives. The foliage is dense and of a silvery tinge.

The baileysana is not resistant against prevailing winds, as they burn the foliage and even cause branches to die. Care should be used in planting of this, as well as most of the acacias, as they will not withstand too much root disturbance.

Other Acacias
Some of the taller growing acacias are the melanoxylon, lapathia, dealbata, decurrens and mollissima. The last mentioned has the fern-like foliage and all have the characteristic yellow flowers. These forms all drop quite a bit of litter and the root systems are quite detrimental to nearby concrete.

Silk Oak
Grevillea robusta, or Australian silk oak, is a beautiful evergreen of considerable size, with foliage similar to the acacia. The leaves are larger and looser. In spring and summer, long racemes of orange flowers appear in horizontal layers.

While the silk oak is a rapid grower, no flowers may be expected for five or six years from time of planting.

Jacaranda
To those who do not object to deciduous types of trees and like the fern-like foliage, the jacaranda will be pleasing.

It is so similar to the acacias that amateur gardeners constantly are wondering which acacia gives the beautiful deep lavender or blue flowers.

The flowers appear before the foliage returns after the tree has dismantled for winter.

Some object, however, to the rather treacherous blossoms that fall and tend to have the same effect on pedestrians as the historic banana peel.

Being quite brittle, the jacaranda often suffers from twisting desert winds.

Carob
The ceratonia siliqua, or carob, probably is better known as the read-fruit tree.

The foliage of the carob slightly resembles an oak tree. While it is an evergreen, with beautiful foliage, here in, perhaps, too tree in the round leafed evergreens that is leaner to plant.

Difficulty sometimes is experienced in getting the tree to grow straight. It is advisable to stake it planting time and keep it staked or several months.

Mrs. Bush Will Be Secretary to New Prosecutor

Announcement that Mrs. Ruby Bush, deputy city clerk of Santa Ana, has been appointed secretary for District Attorney Z. B. West Jr., was made today by West.

The appointment will be effective Monday, when the new district attorney takes office.

Mrs. Bush has been in the city clerk's office for seven years and is well known in Santa Ana. In the district attorney's office she will relieve Miss Lella Rimer, clerk for District Attorney A. P. Nelson.

CHEST MAKES FINAL PAYMENT OF 1926 FUNDS

Unexpended balances of the various appropriations pertaining to the 1926 community chest fund were distributed today to corresponding participating agencies by Alex Brownridge, treasurer of the chest, according to an announcement at the chest headquarters, 710 North Sycamore street.

Total payments to various organizations, including today's distribution of unexpended balances, represent a decrease of close to eight per cent of the approved budget of last year. Today's payments will be used by the participating agencies in clearing up outstanding accounts for the year. It was explained.

Total distributions for the year were as follows:
Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., $14,851.84; Boy Scouts of America, $6947.50; Santa Ana Y. W. C. A., $788.21; Salvation Army, $5372.08; Veterans Welfare association $4,347.60; American Red Cross, $927, and Children's Home society, $461.50.

LEGION WOMEN WILL INSTALL IN FULLERTON

Officers of Santa Ana auxiliary, American Legion, for 1927, will be installed at ceremonies to be held in Fullerton, in the Fullerton auxiliary hall, on Spadra road, one block north of Commonwealth avenue the night of January 4, it was announced today.

Miss Grace Weston, chairman of the eleventh California district of the auxiliary department, will be installing officer. Mrs. Josephine Lykke, new president of the Santa Ana auxiliary, has asked all her officers to be present for the occasion.

The last year has been looked upon as one of the most successful, if not the most successful, in the history of the auxiliary. It was reported. A great deal of work was done toward alleviating the distress of ex-service men still confined to government hospitals, notable in San Fernando, and the new officers will take their chairs determined to even better the record, it was said.

The following Santa Ana officers will be installed: President, Mrs. Josephine Lykke; first vice president, Mrs. Lella Baird; second vice president, Mrs. Adelaide Nussbaumer; secretary, Mrs. Myrtle Cain; treasurer, Miss Julia McGill; sergeant-at-arms, Miss Harriett Wollaston; marshal, Mrs. Gladys Young; chaplain, Mrs. L. M. Wollaston; musician, Mrs. Pauline Morson; historian, Mrs. Freda Glidden.

RANCHER HURT WHEN TRAIN STRIKES CAR

Milton Moore, Anaheim rancher, suffered a broken hip last night, when the automobile, which he was driving, was struck by a southbound Santa Fe train on Vermont street, south of Anaheim.

Moore was placed on the train and taken to Orange. Later, he was returned to Anaheim in an ambulance.

The machine was practically demolished. According to the rancher he neither saw nor heard the train until too late to avoid the crash.

Moore lives at 827 South Walnut street, Anaheim. He is in the Anaheim sanitarium.

ACCUSED THIEF IS SENT TO ASYLUM

Abel Gonzales, escaped inmate of Patton asylum, who was caught in Santa Ana Tuesday night in an alleged attempt to steal an automobile owned by Charles C. Carillo, official court interpreter, was returned to the asylum yesterday.

With his return, prosecution of a grand larceny charge was dropped. Gonzales had been overtaken by Carillo after driving the latter's car a few blocks and was given summary physical punishment by the irate owner.

When arraigned in court the next morning, he balked at proceeding by an exhibition of insanity. Protracted yells were his only response to questions.

Police News

F. R. Harwood, 2388 Hellotrope drive, reported to police today that a pair of windings were stolen from his machine last night, while the car was parked near Fifth and Sycamore streets.

Prowlers, discovered near the home of O. Robinson, 111 Owen's drive, last night, were frightened away by Robinson, according to a report filed today with police.

Mrs. Julius Roth, 2134 South Broadway, reported to police today that prowlers were seen near her house last night. She asked for protection.

Wanted in Los Angeles on a felony charge, Edward J. 18 truck driver, of Home Gardens, was arrested last night by Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, and Deputy Sheriff Jaci Roberts.

An automobile, owned by Jir Todd, 128 East Tressala street, Fullerton, was stolen in Fullerton yesterday, according to a report filed today with the sheriff's office.

$4000 ESTATE BRINGS $20,000 LIBEL ACTION

A $4000 estate, left by the late David McPherson, of Orange, generated a $20,000 libel suit against his widow and daughter, Sarah McPherson and Ida Duncan, it was disclosed today, when the estate petition and the libel suit both were filed in superior court, Orange.

M. O. Hert, prominent San Bernardino attorney, was connected with both cases. He is acting as attorney for W. D. McPherson, of Redlands, who seeks appointment as administrator of the estate. W. D. McPherson is a son of David McPherson. Hert also was plaintiff in the libel suit against his client's mother and sister, who live at 272 South Glassell street, Orange.

This hint of a split in the McPherson family was taken, in court circles, to presage a contest over the estate, the papers now on file indicating that Mrs. McPherson and her daughter have retained counsel of their own. According to statements made in the libel complaint, the split came after Attorney Hert had accompanied W. D. McPherson to the McPherson home in Orange, to discuss a settlement of the father's estate.

Called Him Shyster? Following the son's return home, his mother and sister wrote him a letter, it is claimed, in which they referred to Hert as a "shyster" and threatened to have him "thrown out" of their home, if he came there again. Hert wants $10,000 as actual damages to his reputation and $10,000 exemplary damages, because of this alleged statement.

David McPherson died last October 15, leaving cash and securities valued at $4000, but not leaving a will, it is said. The widow, her son and daughter are the legal heirs.

On November 10, the son and Attorney Hert came to Orange from San Bernardino, according to Hert, the attorney having been retained by the son for settlement of the estate. In the McPherson home, in Orange, Hert said he discussed the settlement in a kindly manner, without taking a partisan attitude, and that when he departed, he left a written proposition of settlement, which at that time seemed satisfactory to all. W. D. McPherson returned to San Bernardino with him.

Letter From Mother A week later, it is said, W. D. McPherson received a letter from his mother and sister, which contained the following statement:

"And if you will wait until I am in that cold, gray casket, you can then start all the rackets you want, but do not bring that shyster here again; if you do I will call an officer and throw him out; I have counsel and know my rights."

The statement, Hert alleges, referred to him. It was false and defamatory and was made maliciously with knowledge of its falsity, he charges. He claims it has greatly injured his reputation and robbed him of profits that would have accrued to him. His complaint recites that he has practiced law in California 20 years, without a breath of suspicion as to his honesty; that he has served as chief deputy district attorney of San Bernardino county and has acted as legal advisor to county officials and that he has built up a large and profitable practice, which was injured by the statement in question.

Delay in reaching an agreement over recommendations regarding salary increases and additional deputies and clerks in county offices was understood to have prevented the county grand jury filing its special salary report with Superior Judge E. J. Marks this morning.

The grand jury went into session at 10 a. m., supposedly for the purpose of approving details of a report that had been drafted several days ago, according to rumor. The entire morning was spent in secret session, officials were called into conference and it was hinted that the original recommendations were being revised.

Whether the report would be filed today was a matter of speculation when the delay became apparent. It was expected that the grand jury's recommendations would be ready to deliver today to Dr. C. D. Ball, county assemblyman, who planned to leave today for Sacramento to attend the session of the state legislature, which opens Monday. Dr. Ball, it is said, will introduce a bill, in which would be incorporated proposed salary increases and provisions for additional deputies.

Subsidies will be granted to heads of families in Spain who have eight or more children dependent upon them. There are in Italy 10,000 families with ten children or more each.

WHAT DOES AN

examination mean to you? Is it worthy of your consideration if you are sick? Would you be willing to spend a few minutes today in order to determine exactly what is causing your trouble, if in doing so you are put to no expense and are under no obligation in any way? We are certain you would. Then if you are willing, act at once as it may save you a great deal of suffering later on. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

Health is the result of perfect co-ordination of all the organs of the body; however, if these parts are not co-ordinating one with another the result is sickness and disease. Are your kidneys, lungs, bowels, spleen, stomach, pancreas, heart, liver and bladder working as they should? If not, how can you expect to be well? Disorders such as toxic poisoning, asthma, constipation, diabetes, indigestion, weak heart, biliousness, bladder trouble, lumbago, rheumatism, headache, nervousness and that tired, worn-out feeling which comes over you in the morning when you should be at your best are results of a weakened condition of some of the above organs. This weakness is directly due to a pressure on the nerves supplying functional energy to the affected parts. Without this nerve force or energy no part of the body will work as it should.

FREE!

X-Ray examination will show the exact location and extent of this pressure. That is why we use it in our work. We would not more think of adjusting a patient without an X-Ray picture than a carpenter would think of building a house without a rule. This is because we do not believe in guesswork when the health of our patients is at stake. If you are not well and wish to take advantage of our free offer.

LONDON WOMEN TO JOIN NEW UNIONS

LONDON, Dec. 31.—Two new unions are being planned for women workers in the near future.

The domestic and hotel workers' union plans a servants' organization which will give servants an eight-hour day and 48-hour week with no deductions for breakages, two weeks' vacation, a minimum wage of 21 shillings a week for servants who live in, and 25 shillings for cooks, cook generals and working housekeepers.

A trade union for nurses is suggested, with a 48-hour week, a month's annual holiday on full pay and pensions at the age of 55.

Among the many vocations taken up by women is astronomy. There are now 50 women members of the Royal Astronomical society, all of which are hopeful some day of emulating the feats of the first great woman astronomer, Caroline Herschel, who discovered eight comets.

Many of the young women astronomers of today work hard in all branches of the science, and not only lecture but write articles on their studies. Miss Cecelia Payne specialized in spectroscopy and, having obtained a fellowship of Harvard, has left for the United States.

Dr. W. H. Stevenson, president of the British Astronomical association, says there are 70 women astronomers in the membership of his organization. Among them Mrs. Grace Cook has become an authority on meteors. Mrs. Mauders is a recognized authority on solar matters and Miss C. Furness an authority on variable stars.
"One of the most remarkable women today in astronomy," added Dr. Stevenson, "is an American,
Dr. Annie Cannon, whose monumental work in stellar spectra is unique."

FORCE OF 2000 URGED IN BILL AS MAIL GUARD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—A move toward creation of a force of 2000 men to guard the mails against bandits has been inaugurated by Chairman Grist, of the house postal committee, who drafted a bill to carry out the plan.

Marines now are guarding the mails, having been placed there recently as a result of a series of raids by mail thieves. Postmaster General New, in his annual report, called attention to the activities of such looters and expressed the opinion that the death penalty should be imposed upon them.

The new force, which would be a unit of the post-office department and armed and equipped by it, would be divided into two classes, guards and supervisors, at salaries of $1900 and $2000, respectively. War veterans would be given preference in recruiting the guard.

In a memorandum to Chairman Grist, the department said that its nine armored trucks are to be augmented within the next few months by 275 more authorized by congress. The department estimated that total cost of the civil guard would be more than five million dollars annually.

Postmaster General New said that 15 major bandit operations during the present fiscal year had cost more than one million dollars in property and the lives of four postal employees.

Ventures of Valencia

I spent a delightful hour in Watkin's bootery. I needed what my escort calls "a new pair of kicks." He says he speaks

'American,' which is intelligible to me only after explanations. The Bootery is a charming shop, with intriguing
wares attractively displayed and expertly presented.
I was shown the new modes in footwear, just arrived, and my inclination was to buy silken slippers for evening, brogues for sport, swanky-ties for the street and office and enchanting pumps for dancing. But, also, my desires must be governed by a modest purse, with the assistance of a most efficient staff, I selected a smart little pair of strapped French heels that will harmoniously complete almost any ensemble. Upon leaving the Bootery, I voiced my hope that some day I could buy a dozen pairs of slippers. My escort, eyes on my feet thrust into the new French heels, said, "You have no kick coming."

I went to Hollywood, where a screen test will be given me. I had a thrilling interview with a producer and, if my mounting hope is not crushed by the result on a strip of film of a searching camera's eye, I will buy a home in Santa Ana. I took luncheon in Henry's cafe. It was my first visit to Hollywood and the Bohemian atmosphere of the Cafe was new and thrilling.
Henry is Charlie Chaplin's big dating from Chaplin's big character man and there is a real bond of friendship between them, dating from Chaplin's first picture. The great comedian sits for hours, alone, at a quiet table. His hair is streaked with gray and his face, especially his eyes, are moody and not at all funny. My escort, who knows all the stars and everything, says Chaplin has cast himself for the lead in trouble and that's no joke. I was introduced to Mr.

Bjarnson, which is pronounced Barney Barnson, who has come to Hollywood from Iceland.
I told him the smudge pots were burning in our orange groves because California and the country as "cold as Iceland." He laughed, as he explained that his country has a very mild climate, caused by the Gulf Stream. "Almost as perfect as your own," he said.

Mr. Bjarnson was most interested in my story of the Orange County Personality pageant, which I hope he will attend, especially as he is the best possible reporter, for his writings gained wide circulation. He entertained us for hours with accounts of Stefananson and Amund-son, who are his friends. I am sure that these great Vikings found no more thrilling ventures than I am finding mine.

Some days ago, I referred to having my picture being taken with Mr. William Murphy, of the Santa Ana hotel. My facetious escort told me that Mr. Murphy is Italian and I so designated him. Upon my return from Hollywood, Mr. Murphy explained to me that he doesn't even know the right pronunciation of Mussolini and that there were no organ grinders nor monkeys in his ancestry. Mr. Murphy is Irish. I had the pleasure of meeting some of the members of the "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" and "Rain" companies, both of which were brought to Santa Ana by Mr. Yost. Show people throughout the country know and like Mr. Murphy and I got a cooking story from them about him that will appear soon.

Tomorrow I am going to ride in a big car, covered with flowers in the Pasadena parade, and wear a crown of orange blossoms and a wrap from our Golden West Fur farm. I know the bunny ermine and the crown will make me a queen for the day and the Orange County

AN ARGUMENT AGAINST SMUDGING

All growers should appreciate your recent editorial, "Smudging and Prosperity," intimating that smudging is a necessary evil and is vital to the orange grower—which may be true of some localties. Here, in Orange County, however, it must be apparent to everyone that oranges can be successfully grown without resorting to artificial heat, because very few groves are equipped with smudge pots. Many growers here have discontinued the practice of smudging, having proved to their satisfaction that under our conditions the occasional loss from frost is less than the cost of smudging equipment, fuel, labor, etc., when all items of cost, interest and depreciation are included. No doubt some who are smudging now will also reach this conclusion.
Meanwhile shrewd sellers of smudge pots will recruit new members to help lay down the smoke screen. At any rate, very few groves are equipped. We arrive, therefore, at the conclusion that, instead of being a vital necessity, it is debatable whether or not it pays to smudge, under our conditions.

Conceding, however, that occasional financial gain may accrue, it is evident that the saving, if any, comes to a very few of the growers, because only a few growers smudge, and that this saving, if any, is at the expense and a great discomfort, not only of the public at large, but also the great majority of the growers themselves. When we consider the smudge created by the few now, we get some idea of what conditions will be if many more adopt the practice. The oily soot penetrates everywhere, ruining curtains, draperies, rugs, paper and paint, causing an enormous amount of work and clogging the lungs, throat and nostrils. Night's smudging may ruin the stock of a merchant. In short it is nothing less than a nuisance, which if increased to any extent will make living intolerable. One of the best posted growers is also authority for the statement that this soot is very detrimental to citrus trees. In a recent letter, a prominer. man spoke of the high value of property here because of the desirable living conditions. Anything which improves these conditions, makes it more desirable and increases values. Everything which detracts, lowers values. The stories of a few tourists of the smudge nuisance, and letters from disgusted residents will offset much advertising of this county as a desirable place in which to reside.

Will people be likely to establish beautiful homes if they are to be ruined by smudging?

There are types of orchard heaters which are practically smokeless. Frost insurance also is available. If growers will heat their orchard with smokeless heaters, no objection can be made, but what justification is there for a few to cause widespread damage and inconvenience to all? In manufacturing centers where smoke is objectionable, smoke consumers are required. In the City of New York hard coal must be burned because the soft coal smoke would ruin so much property, as was evidenced during the coal strike last year. It has been a well recognized principle everywhere, that one must so conduct his business and so use his property as not to damage others or interfere with their rights and enjoyment. Growers who wish to heat should use smokeless heaters; or if their land is so cold as to be ill-adapted to oranges, should raise some of the other paying crops which can be grown in Orange County. It is a demonstrated fact that local groves are producing good crops without artificial heat and without occasional frost damage, and the majority of growers believe that the amount of such damage is less than the cost of orchard heating.

DAUGHTERS OF STATE RECORD ORDER GROWTH

A lusty infant was born in Santa Ana, on Dec. 19, 1925, and it was named Santa Ana parlor, No. 235 Native Daughters of the Golden West. The first birthday celebration was held at St. Ann's Inn, on Monday evening, December 20, and there it was found that the child had grown and waxed prominent in the circles of the organization in California.

The parlor was started with 100 members and now numbers 144, with a slight loss in membership as Daughters remove to other places.

At the recent visit here of the grand president, Mrs. Pearl Lamb, of Tracy, who made her official inspection, Santa Ana parlor was given great praise for its growth and accomplishments. Mrs. Lamb stated that the local parlor ranked far ahead of many of the old parlors.

The parlor has taken a place at the head of the column in its work for homeless children, which forms an important work in the Native Sons and Daughters organizations, more than 2000 little folk having been installed in excellent homes throughout the state. Santa Ana parlor has as its chairman for this department Mrs. Genevieve Hisekey, a tireless worker, now the marshal and the third vice president-elect.

Preserve Landmarks
Another work in which the Native Daughters are greatly interested is the preservation and restoration of landmarks, especially the missions. They are now paying for a portion of the work of rebuilding the baptistry at San Juan Capistrano mission, in company with the Native Sons, as part of the program undertaken by the Rev. St. John O'Sullivan. The walls are now up and the old font has been placed within. The ancient foundation was uncovered and followed in the new building, which will not be finished for a year.

The local parlor also has donated for the restoration work of Santa Barbara and Santa Ynez missions, which were damaged by earthquake and will contribute to the Redwood Grove fund, as a memento to the pioneers of California, a monument greater than any built of stone.

The organization has a death fund and looks after its sick members with kindly ministrations, visits and flowers, and its social life makes for large attendance at all its meetings.

The first officers to guide the infant parlor on its road to success included Mrs. Louise Grouard, M. C. president; Mrs. Mamie Conn Schenberg, first vice president; Mrs. Mary Duncan Moore, second vice president; Mrs. Olive Lopez, third vice president; Mrs. Louise McGill, marshal; Miss Dorothy Thurston, recording secretary; Miss Mildred Fox, financial secretary; Mrs. Stella Stiffler, treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Marsile, Mrs. Caroline Y. Barnett, Mrs. Eunice Fox, trustees; Mrs. Muriel Bray, inside sentinel; Mrs. Clara Gerken, outside sentinel; Mrs. Freda Moesser Barger, organist.

Elevate Mrs. Schenberg
At the close of Mrs. McKee's term, Mrs. Schenberg, first vice president, was elected to the chair, to which she has just been re-elected for another six months' term. Mrs. Schenberg has done much valuable work for the Native Daughters in San Francisco, and makes an excellent head for the local parlor, giving it much time and attention.

The other officers, who will be installed soon for the ensuing six months, include Mrs. Mary Moore, first vice president; Mrs. Eunice Fox, second vice president; Mrs. Genevieve Hisekey, third vice president; Mrs. Muriel Bray, marshal; Mrs. Matilda Lemmon, recording secretary; Mrs. Olive Seba, treasurer; Miss Mildred Fox, financial secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Marsile, Mrs. Cora Ross and Miss Elsie Carter, trustees; Mrs. Clara Gerken, inside sentinel, and Mrs. Mary Cope, outside sentinel.

The parlor meets in El Camino hall, corner Ross and Third streets, the first and third Tuesdays of the month, at 7:30 p. m.

SONS, DAUGHTERS OF VETS FROLIC

Sons and Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War celebrated the Christmas holidays, Monday night, when they met together in G. A. R. hall, for the last of a series of pot luck suppers which have been given from time to time throughout the year.

W. I. Davis, commander of the Sons of Veterans, headed the committee in charge of the program. Numbers for which Davis arranged were community singing of "America," salute to the flag, a short talk by Division Com. E. J. Parker, who introduced Joseph Moore, "new commander of the Sons, and Miss Bertha Belt, new president of the Daughters; and piano solos by little Miss Betty Jane Graham, who was accompanied by Miss Ruth Frothingham.

Other numbers presented by Mr. Davis were violin solos, by Mrs. Sol Gonzales; Spanish dances, by Miss Pringle, whose accompanist was Miss Frothingham, and sleight-of-hand tricks by the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church.

Daughters of Union Veterans made up the committee in charge of the serving of the supper and Mrs. Lenore Melvin, Mrs. Leona Talbot and Mrs. Margaret Church were in charge of the kitchen.

ELKS LODGE IN SANTA ANA HAS REMARKABLE GROWTH

From a membership of 48 in 1902, when the lodge was established, to a membership of 1000 at the close of the year of 1926, is the enviable record of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, of Santa Ana. Other visible signs of the growth of the order are the clubhouse, which was built in 1917, and the ownership of one of the most valuable lots in Santa Ana.

In commenting on the aims of the lodge, William McKay, exalted ruler, stated that good fellowship and friendliness are the most important qualifications demanded of members. An Elk is not supposed ever to pass another Elk without speaking to him. "Members have followed this ruling so faithfully that today 'Hello Bill' is a phrase known the whole world over," said McKay.

During the last year, the two charities that have especially held the interest of the Elks are the Crippled Children's Relief association and the fund used for aiding in the paying of hospital fees when the patient is unable to meet his obligations himself.

The motto of the Elks is "He went about doing good."

BROTHERHOOD SHOWS GROWTH IN MEMBERSHIP

BY ADDIE CRANE
Secretary

The Fraternal Brotherhood lodge of this city, started the year 1926 with a membership contest. The two teams were known as the Nighthawks, headed by H. D. Kling, and the Owls, captained by J. L. Crane. Eighty new members were taken in at that time. The contest closed March 1, with the result that the increased membership made it possible to meet longer in the M. W. A. hall.

At the first meeting in El Camino hall, the Owl team was host to the Nighthawk team at a chicken dinner.

Another interesting contest was that between the local lodge and the Long Beach lodge. This contest, which was won by Santa Ana, was the last membership drive in 1926. As a result of these drives 150 new members were taken in during the year.

In August a Southern California picnic was held in Orange County park with about 1000 members of the Fraternal Brotherhood and their friends present.

The carnival dance and card party, which will be given tonight, will end one of the most successful years in the history of the brotherhood in this city.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS SEE SANTA CLAUS

Sixty members of the Royal Neighbors of America gathered in M. W. A. hall, Monday night, to take part in the annual Christmas party, which was featured by two surprises.

The first one was the news that Mrs. Marie Knight, president, was ill and would not be able to attend the meeting. This was the first meeting in her two terms as president that she had been unable to attend. It was not long after receiving this news that a shrill whistle was heard, and Santa Claus arrived on the scene. He distributed the many gifts that were on the tree and then was asked by Mrs. Bess Simmons, who was taking Mrs. Knight's place, to assume charge of the meeting. It was then that the members recognized Santa Claus as Mrs. Knight.

The other surprise was that the Rex team served Christmas refreshments as a special treat.

At the business meeting, an invitation from the Modern Woodmen was received, and accepted, to hold a joint installation with that lodge on January 11, in American Legion hall, on Birch street.

RED MEN LODGE TO INSTALL OFFICERS

At their next meeting, members of Kiowa tribe, No. 259, Improved Order of Redmen, will install officers for 1927. These officers will be W. P. Baker, sachem; Jesse L. Elliott, prophet; Alex Jamison, senior sagamore; Phillip Zlackett, junior sagamore.

Retiring officers state that they are gratified with the work accomplished in the lodge since its institution in May of this year. At that time, the membership totaled 50 and has steadily grown until now the membership is about 65. Plans to organize a lodge of the degree of Pocahontas have been discussed.

In the last few months, the local order of Redmen has created a relief fund for members who are in need of financial assistance. The lodge is giving a series of dances, the proceeds of which are added to the fund.

O. E. S. WOMEN GIVE CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Masonic temple was the scene of a gay party Monday night, when officers of Santa Ana chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, entertained the members of the chapter and the children with a Christmas party.

The party was held during a recess in the routine. Everyone gathered in the dining room, where a large Christmas tree, glistening with tinsel and lights, was waiting. A program was given consisting of piano solos, by Dorothy Kloess; reading, by Gloria Pestoloso; songs, by Billy Sylvester, accompanied by Elizabeth Roehm; reading, by Chester Roberts; piano solo, by Eunice

DE MOLAY BOYS PREPARING FOR YEAR OF WORK

A survey of the activities of Santa Ana chapter, Order of De Molay, during the last year, under the master counselships of Alfred Ault and Virgil Reed, disclosed that 33 members have been received into the chapter, six initiations have taken place, eight social affairs have been held and several service projects have been supported.

As Jack Taylor prepares to assume the station of the east in the Santa Ana chapter for the first term of the new year, the outlook is bright for 1927.

Renewed interest has been taken in the De Molay program, both by members of the order and Master Masons of Santa Ana.

Better Attendance
Large attendance has been noted recently, since the change of the meeting night to Thursday, at the same time the Royal Arch Masons, chapter No. 73, which is the sponsoring body for the Santa Ana De Molay chapter, meets.

At the beginning of last year, the first event in the calendar of the chapter was the installation, on January 3, of the officers, headed by Alfred Ault. The degree team, at the invitation of the Huntington Beach Masonic chapter, presented the De Molay degree there, January 27. A musical comedy, "Supper at Ten," was given under auspices of the Santa Ana De Molay chapter, February 20, in the high school auditorium. The chapter members and invited friends went for a grunion hunt April 16, at Huntington Beach.

The first dance of the year, in charge of Charles Searls, was held in the Santa Ana Masonic temple, April 17.

In the election for the second term, Virgil Reed won the master counselorship. The installation was held June 12.

A banquet and the initiation of 14 candidates were held June 26. A party of the Santa Ana De Molay boys attended the dance given by the Bethel chapter, Job's Lighters, Anaheim, June 23. With their "girl friends," the De Molays went to Pacific Palisades for a beach party, July 16.

The degrees conferred by the Orange chapter, July 28, were witnessed by a group of Santa Ana boys, visiting the Orange De Molays.

One of the most popular events of the year was the banquet and theater party, November 15, arranged by Charles Searls. The members of the chapter on that occasion entertained their "girl friends."

Jack Taylor was elected to the office of master counselor to succeed Reed at the meeting of the chapter November 4. The finale to 1926 was the initiation of class of 10 new members December 16. The new year will be launched with the installation of Taylor, January 6, at an open meeting.

REBEKAH LODGES SHOW PROGRESS

The establishment of the Rebekah degree in 1851 gave to the Independent Order of Odd Fellows a strong and important branch of that already great fraternity. Schuyler Colfax, afterwards vice president of the United States under President Grant, wrote the ritual of the degree which, with few changes, is still in use.

In California, there are 404 Rebekah lodges, with a total membership of 600,000. An orphan's home, of which the Rebekah lodge is sponsor, has been established at Gilroy, where more than 100 children are cared for.

In Orange county, there are eight Rebekah lodges, two of which are located in Santa Ana. These are Sycamore and Torosa lodges. Orange county has been honored this year by having C. W. Palmer, of Orange, elected grand master. The encampment branch of Odd Fellowship also is represented by Harry Mang, of Anaheim, who is grand sentinel. Torosa has two assembly officers, Mrs. Amelia Prather, appointed chaplain, and Mrs. Fannie M. Lacy, past president of the Rebekah assembly. A Sycamore lodge member, Mrs. Florence Crawford, is district deputy president. Roy Bishop, of Orange, is grand marshal of the grand lodge.

The outgoing noble grand of Torosa lodge, Mrs. Leona Talbot, will be succeeded by Mrs. May Lentz, who will be installed January 10. Mrs. Bessie McDonald is the retiring noble grand of Sycamore lodge.

To visit the sick and the distressed and to do good unto all as we have opportunity, is the work of the lodge and the special aim is to follow the teachings of the Great Master who said, "Do unto others as ye would that they should do unto you."

AUXILIARY TO PYTHIAN LODGE IN BIG GROWTH

BY MAUDE LAWRENCE
Press Correspondent

The Pythian Sisters order is an auxiliary to the Knights of Pythias where sisters, wives and mothers may join in the practice of Pythian fraternity. Knights also have the privilege of membership.

Santa Ana temple, No. 115, Pythian Sisters, was instituted Nov. 28, 1924, by Elizabeth Aldrich, grand senior of California, who installed the following officers: Ruth Williamson, most excellent chief; Florence Ford, excellent senior; Rosetta Beatty, excellent junior; Thelma Cressy, manager; Alma Anderson, mistress of records and correspondence; Dolly Dennis, mistress of finance; Alice Bachman, protector; Marquette Fein, outer guard.

Since its inception only two years ago, the local Temple has swelled its membership to almost 100 sisters and knights.

One of the most valuable factors in stimulating interest in the Pythian Sisters is the afternoon tea club, which meets twice monthly and is known as the Calanthe club. It was organized Feb. 3, 1925, and has successfully held bazaars and social events since that time which have enabled the club to present to the parent body all its dishes, silver and linen. Last Christmas, the club made the local temple a gift in cash of a goodly sum.

Pythian Sisters are credited in the supreme temple for their altruistic work and are pledged to the defense of home and country.

SONS OF VETERANS SPEND RELIEF FUND

BY S. L. CARPENTER
Secretary

Santa Ana camp, No. 12, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, has expended $72.22 for the comfort and help of veterans, their wives and widows, during the last year. Other acts of charity were numerous, including calls on the sick and shut-ins, and the sending of flowers to these same people.

The duty of the Sons of Union Veterans is to assist the Grand Army veterans of the Civil War in any way possible.

Members are requested to teach patriotism, and to perpetuate the memories of these veterans who fought for the preservation of the Union.

Pythian Sisters Honor High Chief

Santa Ana lodge, Pythian Sisters, was host Tuesday night at G. A. R. hall to the grand protectress Mrs. Whitaker, and the past chief, Mrs. Becker, of Long Beach. Accompanying the grand officers to Santa Ana were a number of members of the Long Beach lodge. Several guests were present from Tustin lodge.

Following the usual business session, three new members were initiated. They were Mrs. Vita Powers and Mr. and Mrs. Bishop. Refreshments were served by a committee of local Pythian Sisters.

A Custom, Ages Old

In Europe, years ago, the vogue was not only for the man to present an engagement ring to his "intended," but for the "intended" to present a ring to her man as a symbol of her acceptance. Society folk are reviving this olden custom. The ring for the man should be a stone set ring, typifying the month of the engagement, the man's outstanding characteristics. We have a complete assortment of the approved type of rings. We shall welcome the opportunity of showing them to you.

Cousin Hostesses Join In Presentation of Smart Function

Adding an afternoon of bridge to the list of delightful social affairs of Christmas week, two cousins, Miss Grace Smiley and Miss Elaine Wharton, entertained yesterday at the Smiley home, 703 West Washington avenue, at one of the prettiest parties imaginable.

The home lends itself admirably to entertaining with its spacious rooms and attractive fittings. Tall jars of cotoneaster added the note of Christmas reds to the decorative effect of the drawing room where tables were arranged for afternoon of cards.

The cousins, Miss Smiley and Miss Wharton, chose Christmas papers and ribbons in wrapping the pretty gifts they had chosen as rewards in the bridge contest. The first of these went to Miss Ruth Dyer, holding highest score of all, and was a lovely silver card tray in Dutch repousse. Second prize of a pair of tinted candlesticks with tall whip tapers, was presented Mrs. Maurice Enderle while consolation went to Mrs. David Wettlin.

At the tea hour, the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. A. J. Smiley and Miss Helen Smiley, served a molded fruit salad with nut bread and jellied chicken sandwiches, followed by ice cream-cake and coffee. Each table was centered with a flower nut cup filled with salted almonds.

Several out of town guests were greeted among Mrs. Kenneth Crist (Bee Cartwright) of Los Angeles who has been spending the holidays with relatives and friends in Santa Ana.

Evening Bridge Given As Compliment to Miss Mathis

Complimenting Miss Mathis, was the gay little party given last night by Mrs. Charles Swanner at her pretty home 2341 Bonnie Brae, where a group of congenial friends spent the evening in playing bridge.

The decorations placed for Christmas, were still brightening the home, and card tables were arranged against a cheery background of bells and wreaths with vivid reds and holly. In the evening's contest, Mrs. Stanley Clem and Kemp Taylor were each presented attractive gifts for scoring high, while consolation gifts were bestowed on Miss Virginia and "Gene Hays." At the same time, Mrs. Swanner presented a charming picture to Miss Mathis as guest prize.

Late in the evening, to the soft light of Christmas candles, Mrs. Swanner assisted by Mr. Swanner, served an appetizing little two-course supper.

Enjoying the friendly hospitality of the hosts were Misses Mathis, Clem and Mrs. Stanley Clem, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Switzer, Dr. and Mrs. Cassius Paul, Dr. and Mrs. M. Fortier, Miss Myrtle Vencil, Miss Virginia Craig, Messrs. Floyd Cuddy, Kemp Taylor, "Gene Hays" and Puntney.

OBITUARY

Ellie Lee McMillen was born April 12, 1847, near Columbus, O., and died December 28, 1926, at her home 705 Minter street, Santa Ana. She left two sons, William L. and Claire S. McMillen, both of Osborne, Kans. three brothers, the Rev. Edward Lee McMillen of Los Angeles, Charles S. McMillen, of Patterson, Cal., and Walter McMillen, of Huron, S. D., and two sisters, Mrs. D. H. Carpenter of Alta, Ia., and Mrs. Margaret B. Carpenter, of Los Angeles. Five grandchildren also mourn the loss of Mrs. McMillen. When she was 2 years old, Mrs. McMillen was taken in a covered wagon to Tipton, Ia. There she attended grammar school, was graduated from high school and taught in the public schools, later attending Cornell college at Mt. Vernon, Ia., where she was graduated with high honors in June, 1869. In 1870 she married James S. McMillen and they went to live at Lisbon, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. McMillen moved to Osborne county, Kansas, in the fall of 1873, where, with many of the other early settlers, they suffered many hardships of the new country. For a time they lived in a dugout but the house was never too small that there was not room in it for anyone who needed befriending. Arrangements were soon made whereby a Methodist preacher would make the circuit every two weeks or once a month and for a time they met at the McMillen home. For more than 20 years Mrs. McMillen taught day school and Sunday school in that vicinity and the influence that she and her husband had on the rising generation for the building of fine Christian characters can never be estimated.

To have a family with the talent and education of the McMillens in those early pioneer days was rare and to have them give so unreservedly of their time to the social and spiritual upbuilding of the community was indeed fortunate.

After untiring effort, Mrs. McMillen was able to see two churches built: the first a mile from their home, and, after it was burned, a second on a part of their property across the road from their commodious farm residence.

One of the last bits of service for her old community before she left for California was a gift of a beautiful communion set. To show their appreciation of what the family meant to the town more than 200 persons met to bid them Godspeed and present them with a silver loving cup before their departure for California.

SANTA ANA LIONESSES OFFER NEW YEAR RESOLVES FOR CLUB

Santa Ana Lions were given very little opportunity to roar yesterday at their weekly meeting at St. Ann's Inn, for the Lionesses had emerged from the jungle for the day, and attended to the matter for them, with efficiency and skill, under the leadership of Lioness Cecil Fross Willis, otherwise Mrs. Thomas Willis Jr.

It was a gala occasion in the history of the local den, and whether attracted by curiosity or interest, the Lions were present almost to a man. They were rewarded with a program of interest and entertainment which followed a few introductions and announcements made by President C. S. Crookshank.

Introductions included that of Horace Perkins, holder of the Lion scholarship at Stanford and at the luncheon as a guest of the Rev. Perry F. Schrock. President Crookshank also announced his January program committee, labeling January 6 as "constructive criticism day" with Rex Kennedy, Lyle Anderson and Felton Brown in charge. Collegiate day on January 13 will be in charge of J. C. Hunt, Dr. J. M. Bulph and Lester Carden. On January 20, George Platt, Homer Cheney and A. G. Tucker will have charge.

Wielding the gavel in truly professional fashion, Mrs. Willis then introduced the day's program by declaring that New Year resolutions were in order and asking different Lionesses to outline such resolutions as their Lion husbands might be interested in forming. Mrs. Crookshank as the "first lady in lionism" told several of her new gowns for her own wardrobe, and others that affected the club and the community. One of these was to be careful in selection of noted (or notorious) persons to appear on programs, and led to a reminiscent laugh as members recalled the announced appearance of a certain evangelist of much notoriety, to speak before the club. Another dealt with reformation and the desire to cease from actions that cast a reflection upon the club—and again a laugh testified to the memory of an unusually funny "raid" staged at a Lion party at the fair grounds.

Mrs. Perry Schrock announced a resolution for her minister husband, to avoid seeking publicity; Mrs. Herbert Miller offered one for her husband relative to holding his temper and Mrs. Lester Carden suggested that Mr. Carden refrain from sleeping through expensive shows.

The final resolutions were read from a paper which Mrs. Elliott Rowland declared she found on her husband's desk, proving that he had quite a long list of contemplated improvements in his character. Among them was one to be "more collegiate" and another "to learn a number of new dance steps."

The announcement of Mrs. Harry Hansen that after due investigation she had discovered that Lion Harry was so perfect that there were no new resolutions to be made, brought typical Lion roars—of laughter and Horace Finner suggested that the genial former president refrain from telling stories for a whole year.

The impromptu program was varied by the three entertainment features planned by Mrs. Willis, songs by Sally Lee Scales and Robert Bradford and a talk by the Rev. Mr. Schrock.

Miss Ruth Armstrong accompanied the soloists in her usual delightful fashion. Mrs. Scales sang as her first number, a song particularly appropriate to the season, "Yesterday and Today," which was followed by the lifting "Spring's a Lovely Lady." Her beautiful voice and friendly personality made Mrs. Scales a general favorite and her choice of songs was greeted with enthusiasm, to which she responded with a saucy little encore, "Grandma."

Her numbers were followed by two solos by Robert Bradford who sang Kreisler's "Old Refrain," and by request, "Song of the Flea," by Mossourisky. Unfortunately the talented young singer had not provided an encore, so the enthusiastic applause of his hearers elicited only a bow of appreciation.

The remainder of the time was given over to the Rev. Perry Frederick Schrock, "sky pilot" of the Lions, who, opening in a humorous vein, commented facetiously on the resolutions presented by the Lionesses but more seriously upon the making of resolutions. He asserted that the adoption of new resolutions at the beginning of a year, indicated a certain shortcoming in the person making them, and a falling short of ideals of conduct and work.

He urged a concentration of effort in whatever endeavor one might be engaged, or whatever ideals one might be fostering. "No one can get anywhere in business or in life by wavering his efforts," he asserted. In closing, the speaker urged the adoption of one resolution, that of attending church regularly, declaring that no other one thing means so much to the individual or to the community, as the church.

After Mrs. Willis surrendered the gavel to President C. S. Crookshank, the latter warned the Lions against a too serious consideration of the wisely resolutions offered, especially those with regard to dish-washing or new frocks. The club signified its approval of his attitude very enthusiastically with the exception of the two bachelor members, Alan Revill and "Gar" Ross.

The Tustin Literature section of Elbel will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. J. L. Marshall on East Santa Clara avenue.

Wedding on Christmas Revealed Today by Announcements

Coming from Ventura were the announcements of a wedding on Christmas day that will interest hosts of girlhood friends of the bride, Miss Dorothy Skiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Skiles, 237 West Twentieth street, who chose December 25 for her marriage to Frederick G. Henderson, prominent in business circles of the Bay district.

The wedding was a quiet one, the young people being accompanied only by Mr. and Mrs. Skiles. For the occasion, the bride chose a charming frock in tones of blue and beige with hat, wrap and other accessories to harmonize. The holidays were to be given over to honeymoon travels after which the new Mrs. Henderson plans to resume her teaching duties at Maricopa, Calif., until the close of the school year.

Then the new home will be established in the north where Mr. Henderson is a contractor and builder near Oakland.

Graduating from Santa Ana high school, Miss Skiles continued her studies at University of Southern California of which, she is an alumna. She chose teaching as her profession, and spent the first year after completing her college course, in the High Sierras but went thence to Maricopa where for the past five years she has served as vice-principal of the Maricopa high school.

So successful has she been in her chosen work, that the Christmas bride is now eligible for any executive or teaching position in the schools of the state, a fact which her friends find of decided interest.

Various Gay Affairs Of Yuletide

Guests from Kansas Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Townner staged a delightful family reunion on Christmas day at their home, 1138 West Fifth street with several friends asked to join the family circle. The party also included an uncle and aunt from Kansas, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Coats of Manhattan who are spending the winter in California.

Two great turkeys graced the festive board at mid-day, together with all the delicious dishes which a California Christmas affords. In addition to the dinner, the celebration was marked by a great Christmas tree for the two young sons of the hosts, Frederick and Glenn, but which also yielded quantities of gifts for each one present.

Enjoying the day were the hosts and their sons; Mrs. Townner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Schlusman, the latter's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Coats, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Schlusman of San Diego, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Helms of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Jackson of Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Coats plan to spend several weeks in Long Beach but will return for a more extended visit with their Santa Ana relatives.

In Vance Home
Mr. and Mrs. T. Vance of 420 West First street spent a happy Christmas in company with their children and their families, including Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Vance and son Carol of Los Angeles, Mrs. J. D. Reeve, daughters and sons, Audrey and Eleanor and Jack and George of Fullerton; Mrs. James R. Coxen and children Frances and Tommy of Cheyenne, Wyo., Miss Joy Wakefield of Pasadena and Dr. Mabel Vance Tremain of this city.

The home was gay with red-berried holly and poinsettias, and after the sumptuous turkey dinner, the merry company of relatives enjoyed exchanging gifts and delightful music.

For League Camp
The Girls League and Girl Reserves of the Santa Ana high school made thirty-five children very happy on Wednesday, December 22, when in company with Mrs. Amelia A. Meagher, they took thirty-five children, who were in the health camp in Santiago canyon this summer, up to the camp for an afternoon of pre-Christmas fun. The camp is under the direction of the Orange County Tuberculosis Association and Mrs. Meagher is the camp "mother."

Upon arrival at the camp, of which the children are very fond, a hike was the first number on the program, and from the nearby hills the snow on the Santa Ana mountains nearby could be seen and enjoyed.

Back under the big oaks and sycamores in camp, a brief program was rendered by Emma Lee Cavannaugh and Julia Viele, who gave readings, and Leonard Stafford, who rendered a solo. The entire group participated in singing choruses.

A Christmas tree, gainly decorated, yielded presents for the children, and they were given fancy boxes filled with candies, raisins and fruit. The camp dining room had been prettily decorated in the Yuletide ornaments, and here delicious hot chocolate and cake were served to the young folks, whose appetites had been whetted by the keen fresh air.

The girls who made the happy affair a success were the Misses Clara Owens, Catherine Walbridge, Marcia Huber, Georgietta Wilson and Gail Baldwin. The firms who donated the various supplies necessary for the pleasant events were the Roehm-Sylvester company, Ehlen and Grote, American Produce company, Home Cafe and D Eymann Huff.

Trading rights of the Moravian church in Labrador have been sold to the Hudson Bay company. The church had maintained missions and posts in Labrador since 1771.

Pretty Home Wedding Comes As An Event Of Year's Close

The final day of the old year, is being spent by young Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Smith in their own charming home in Annandale following their wedding last night at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Nell D. Winslow, 502 East Pine street.

Mrs. Smith was Miss Jean Winslow, a student nurse in the Good Samaritan hospital, Los Angeles, and popular in a wide circle of friends here in Santa Ana, her home city. She made a very charming bride in a gown of white satin-back crepe over which fell the long folds of a tulle veil, confined to her hair with a wreath of orange blossoms. Her flowers were butterfly roses showered with white sweet peas.

It was to the strains of Lohengrin played by Alan Revill that the group entered the flower-decked living room, Mr. Smith attended by Carl Huntley of Los Angeles as best man, and Miss Winslow assisted by her sister, Miss Lois Winslow, in dainty bridesmaid's costume of pale pink taffeta.

The Rev. Perry Frederick Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church, read the marriage service to the muted accompaniment of favorite love songs played by Mr. Revill. Following the ceremony the relatives and a few close friends present, were given the opportunity to greet the young people and extend their good wishes before being asked to the dining-room where the bride's cake and dainty foods were served.

The happy couple left at once for Annandale where Mr. Smith is connected with the Edison company. He is a son of Mrs. Ella Smith of Denver.

Among those present at the pretty wedding were Mrs. Nell D. Winslow, mother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Decker, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Huntley, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Taylor of Whittier; Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Benedict and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Benedict of Los Angeles; Captain and Mrs. A. Rolling, Miss Mabel Ozmert, Mrs. Hazel Maxwell, Messrs. Alan Revill, Sidney Lingham, John Gallagher, E. J. Benedict, Fred Johnston, G. M. Benedict, and Miss Lois Winslow, Burt and Allen Winslow, sister and brothers of the bride.

Jolly Dozen

The Jolly Dozen 500 club held its New Year meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of the Misses Bertha and Barbara Klatt, 201 East Washington avenue. The spacious rooms were still gay with the Yuletide adornments, including a magnificent tree glistening with tinsel and ornaments in the reception hall. Red-berried cotoneasters in baskets, and other flowers and wreaths made the scene a beautiful one.

At the conclusion of the games, prizes were awarded to Mrs. S. E. Groty and Mrs. George W. Young, and refreshments of dainty pastries and coffee were served by the hostesses.

Those enjoying the last meeting of the club for the year were Messdames J. W. Markel, John Rudolph, S. E. Groty, George W. Young, E. B. Collier, Olive Lopez, Charles W. Schmiedeberg, Joseph Hauptert, Frank B. Koss, and the Misses Barbara, Bertha and Armella Klatt.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Frank Koss, 615 French street.

Ask Assistance In Search for Girls

Sheriff's officers today were asked to make a search for two girls, alleged to have run away from their homes in Los Angeles, yesterday.

The girls are Okla Brown, 14, brown hair and blue eyes, who is five feet, one inch in height and weighs 110 pounds, and Ethel Mooney, 11, who also has brown hair and blue eyes. The latter is four feet, six inches in height and weighs 60 pounds.

Mrs. W. T. Brown, 5509 Hasting street, Los Angeles, appealed to the sheriff's office, according to the report.

Girl Is Hurt When Auto Strikes Post

Miss Viola Baker, Brea, was injured yesterday, when the automobile, in which she was riding with Millard Life, 469 North Olive street, Orange, left the road and struck an iron post, one mile north of Brea, according to a report filed with the sheriff's office. She was taken to Brea, where she was given medical attention, and later removed to her home.

old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dick Wilson, of 530 South Birch street, who broke two ankle bones of his right leg on Tuesday afternoon last while playing football on the lawn of his home, is resting comfortably and his many friends hope that he will soon be able to be out again.

Francis and Tevis Westgate of the Westgate Steamship agency, had a very interesting visit to Wilmington yesterday, going aboard the huge around-the-world steamer, the Belgenland, which docked there on its 132-day trip around the world, taking on 50 Los Angeles people for the cruise.

The Westgates are agents in Santa Ana for the International Mercantile Marine and attended the reception aboard the big boat, which has six decks and elevators for transporting passengers up and down.

Nov. 3—Fifty-three miners were killed by a cave-in at the Barnes-Hecker iron mine near Ishpeming, Mich.

Nov. 10—Princess Astrid of Sweden and Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium were married in Brussels.

Nov. 17—Major Mario de Bernardi of Italy, winner of the Schneider cup, set a new record by flying at more than 258 miles an hour.

THE TINYMITES

Here's a way of wearing your hair, which will be very attractive, if you can stand it this way. At least it will be unusual, for these days, very few girls have the courage to show their foreheads or their ears.

This style has one great advantage. It shows off the profile and the contours of the cheeks better than any other way. If you have rather high, round cheeks, nicely modeled, this will be sure to be becoming. If you have an attractive, low, broad forehead, a good nose and a passable chin and mouth, this will be becoming.

But if your face is long or thin, or hollow cheeked or pale, this severe style is not for you. If your face is too fat, it isn't for you, either. If you are more than 30 in looks (never mind your real number of years), then it isn't for you. And the only test of whether you can comb your hair this way or not, is to try it, and then turn all ways around in front of a mirror, with a hand-glass to give you your reflection from all sides.

It has one other advantage: besides showing up all the soft curves of the cheeks and bringing the nose into prominence, it is easy to keep the hair combed into way. It has a classic sort of simplicity too—but it is not soft, it conceals no faults, it brings out your perfection, yes, but it brings out still more clearly your imperfections.

If you can wear your hair like this, buy yourself a long-bristled, rather fine brush. You can brush the head to a sleekness and glossiness that will make the hair itself most attractive. Should you happen to have a slim and boyish face, and thick, coarse hair with the least suggestion of a wave in it, this style will be very becoming. Have it kept fairly short.

Then, when the arms were patched in place, they rounded out the head on, all the Tinymites yelled, "Hurrah!" Said Scouty, "Gee, he sure looks great. 'Tis well we're through. It's getting late." And Carp answered, "We have done a good job for today."

THE DEAD YEAR

At midnight comes the old year's end,
The tolling clock shall sound his knell
And few shall mourn him as 'a friend,
Or pause his many charms to tell.
The funeral rites for cold, dead years
Give little time for sighs or tears.

Yet this old year, so silent now,
Once walked with us and danced and sang,
From every blossomy apple bough
The song birds' morning anthems rang.

To every man he was a friend
While he had nature's gold to spend.
He lavished beauty on the earth,
In June his roses came to bloom,

Queer Quirks of NATURE

WHEN A SNAKE IS NOT A SNAKE

Glass Snake

By ARTHUR N. PACK

President, American Nature Ass'n.

Look at this picture and you will probably swear you are gazing at the picture of a snake. Quite mistaken.

This reptile, Ophisaurus ventralis (Linn), entirely harmless, because of its appearance, has to bear out not only the prejudice aroused by man's first enemy was back in the Garden of Eden, but also has to submit to being called a snake.

The "glass snake" is a true lizard which in the process of evolution has not developed even the most rudimentary of limbs and for this reason its locomotion is effected by a wriggling movement, which in itself is unlike a snake, as it has none of the graceful undulating glide so characteristic of the snake family.

Its body is slender, elongated and very serpentine, with no trace of limbs. The belief that the glass snake has the ability when snatched to collect itself into its original form is erroneous, but it has in common with most lizards the ability to grow a new, although abbreviated, tail, in case of accident to the original member, with which it can part voluntarily.

Somewhere I read of an amusing encounter between a king snake, whose habit it is to swallow its prey head first, and this glass snake. The king snake grabbed hold of the lizard. Now as the average length of the glass

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 31.—Adding to the complexities of modern education has come a new course of study which, when a scientific name is evolved, will be called something like "maritology." It is the study of marriage.

For matrimony is, or should be, a science, according to the dean of the marriage school which has been started here. He is the Rev. Lawrence A. Wilson, pastor of the Mission Hills Congregational church.

"Brief courtships carried on under a waning moon too often come to an end under the spotlight of the divorce court," said Mr. Wilson in describing his experiment.

"It is easy marriage and not easy divorce which constitutes our greatest domestic problem today. There are more divorces because there is more unhappiness in marriage. The greater unhappiness is the result of inadequate thought and preparation for the most serious business in life."

Swift Growth

With these and other observations gained from his ministerial experience, Mr. Wilson decided to start a marriage school, with himself and his wife as instructors and a student body recruited from the ranks of San Diego's young people. The school was started experimentally; now the classes are filled, and an "extension division" is sending advice to persons in other cities and even other states.

The Wilsons first noted the need for such a school after innumerable questions were asked them by men and women. Many of them felt that the family would not long survive and that marriage soon would become an unnecessary social custom.

"Frank questions demanded frank answers," so we organized the school," said Mr. Wilson. "But in addition to the sociological and physiological aspects of marriage, our class discussions take up those trifling little details of married life which in the long run are so important."

"Young men take the study more seriously than the girls, and are

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

LET DISTRICT DECIDE SCHOOL MATTERS-BALL

FULLERTON, Dec. 31.—Dr. C. D. Ball, assemblyman from Orange county, told directors of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce at a meeting held yesterday that he was in favor of allowing a school district to decide itself whether or not it should retain its present junior college or in with other districts in establishing a single county institution.

Dr. Ball was the special guest of the booster body of the school. He spoke of several projects which he favors. The speaker spoke of the Metropolitan Water bill which will come before the next legislature. He said that he could not understand the opposition which had been developed against this legislation by the water companies in this section, as the bill was for the benefit of the domestic supplies all would in no way effect the farmers. He said that he favored the bill.

The danger of the fly pest and the need for state-wide control was stressed by J. A. Frizer, manager of the Pesticulture Growers' association. He said that this pest had caused serious damage in the vicinity of Sacramento and that it was imperative that some drastic action be taken for its control.

Justice French leaves office today is the last day in office of Justice French. He will be succeeded in office by Judge J. H. Spence, who will be elected in November.

Mr. Spence, who has been in Fullerton for the past year, will fill the position of justice recorder as well as that of justice of the peace.

Mystery of Fire Plug Minus Water Solved In Orange

ORANGE, Dec. 31.—Why doesn't water flow a flood from a fire hydrant which has been cracked off its base by a meandering filver? This question came up yesterday when a car crashed into one of the fire plugs and the water didn't flow.

After much discussion and pondering, someone conceived the idea of learning the answer by telephoning J. W. Richardson, city water superintendent. Richardson explained that in line with the desire of the water department to have all fixtures up-to-date, fire plugs with valves below the surface of the ground have been installed in some parts of the city. Many people gain the impression that the water mains are not carrying much water when a fire plug is broken and the water does not flow, Richardson said.

LOWER FIRE RATE SOUGHT FOR ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, Dec. 31.—Lower fire insurance rates for Anaheim are hoped for as the result of a comprehensive survey of the city's fire protection facilities now being made by three engineers from the Los Angeles office of the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific.

The survey being made by the fire board is the first made in this city since 1923 and is the first thorough survey of the city that has ever been made. James M. Evans, electrical engineer and chief of the three board operatives here, said in an interview this morning. His assistants are A. E. McFarlane, mechanical engineer, and J. E. Shields, structural engineer.

The survey now under way here is to include a thorough and accurate examination of the city's water system, its fire fighting equipment, its fire alarm system and its police protection and will result in a rating of these according to standards accepted for cities of this size and class. The city will also be rated on the general structural condition of its homes and mercantile buildings and on the city ordinances that exist against fire hazards. The survey was expected to be completed.

NEWPORT TRUSTEES IN NEW MOVE TO GET GOVERNMENT AID IN PORT DEVELOPMENT

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 31.—That government assistance may be secured in the development of Newport bay loomed today as the result of action yesterday by city trustees, who met informally with Major H. A. Finch, district engineer.

The resolution was presented to Major Finch, who will send it to the board of engineers. The city trustees, in meeting with Major Finch, drafted a resolution asking the United States board of engineers for rivers and harbors to grant an extension of 90 days before taking action on the report submitted recently by the district engineer.

The extension of 90 days will give time for the special city election for $500,000 to take place and it is expected that if the bond issue here carries, government aid can be secured.

Had the trustees not prepared the resolution, the rivers and harbors committee might take action before the election and all hope of government assistance would be gone.

The report by Major Finch was prepared especially for the Orange county harbor bond election and it was expected that government action would be taken immediately after the county had voted upon the bonds.

HARBOR C. OF C. MAY DECIDE TO GO OUT TUESDAY

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 31.—That the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce may be disbanded at its annual meeting next Tuesday night, was hinted today following a special meeting of directors of the organization yesterday at the Newport Harbor Yacht club.

A committee composed of Dr. C. H. Huston, Sam Meyer and Benjamin Funcheon was appointed to prepare a report as to the future of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce. Discussion at the meeting yesterday led to the belief that the organization has outlived its usefulness and that possibly the organization might be disbanded and its duties looked after by some other organization.

New Constable To Take Office

ORANGE, Dec. 31.—George Bartley, who was elected constable at the fall election and who succeeds Frank Langford on Monday at noon, announced today that he would not appoint any deputy constables.

Regarding his future plans, Langford said that he was going to Los Angeles for medical attention. G. W. Ingle, who succeeds himself as justice of the peace, is absent from the city on a two weeks vacation and is not expected to return until after his new term has been in progress for several days.

MISSIONARY TO TALK IN ORANGE

ORANGE, Dec. 31.—C. Ross Atherton, missionary of Africa from the Christian church, has returned to Orange from a seven months' period of teaching negro children at Edwards, Miss. Mr. Atherton and Mrs. Atherton were forced to return to the United States from Africa two years ago on account of ill health. They undertook to continue missionary work as teachers among the negro children of the south, but again have been forced to give up because of ill health.

Atherton has been asked by the Rev. D. S. MacDonald, of the local First Christian church, to deliver a lecture and show slides connected with his work among the negroes at an early date. The Rev. Harry Hill, former pastor here and now of Redondo Beach, has asked Atherton to lecture for him at a meeting of the missionary society of his church next Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Atherton are staying at 421 East Palmyra avenue.

AMBER NECKLACES

An increasing interest is being shown by women of fashion in necklaces of amber, carnelian and jade, in preference to the more costly jewels.

LOUNGING ROBES

Quilted satin lounging robes lined in contrasting color are far in advance of the negligee mode. In general, even boudoir garments are showing the tailored line, with little trimming.

FABRIC GLOVES

Every woman should own three or four pairs of fabric gloves in varying shades, for use with different costumes. They wash easily, and are much warmer than kid.

WALL ST. JOURNAL

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—With all markets to be closed for two days and with interest centering more on holiday activities than on stocks, the market naturally was quiet and in the early trading decidedly uncertain. Bears took advantage of this to offer stock despite the lethargy in trading and it soon became evident that there was substantial buying power under the list.

Offerings were well taken and in the final hour a fairly brisk advance was noticed.

Railroads, with Atchafalpa in the lead, this stock selling within a point of its record high of 192, advanced. Among the industrials, sugar seemed the most popular.

NEWSIES ENJOY ANNUAL DINNER IN S. A. CHURCH

Hot biscuits, smothered in cream, chicken-celery, pickles and olives-ice cream, cake, candy and apples—these things and plenty of them were the principal table decorations at the newboys' banquet, last night, given by the women of the First Christian church, in the church building, Sixth and Broadway. Under the tables were 156 pairs of the liveliest feet in Orange county, for they were attached to newspaper boys.

While the boys were gathering and while the banquet tables were being prepared in the basement, entertainment was in progress in the church auditorium. Elmer Heidt, manager of the Santa Ana Auto Club of Southern California office, led the boys in a number of favorite old songs and yells. This part of the program was carried on with abandon and gusto. Clarence A. Gustlin did a group of piano numbers, especially selected for the boys. Miss Gene Miller, member of The Register staff, entertained the party with a couple of her best recitations.

Motion Picture Shown
A novelty educational motion picture was presented by H. E. Wahlberg. Then the boys filed out and retired in good order to the banquet room, where a score of waitresses got into action. Before this part of the program was over, every boy openly confessed that he had reached the limit of his gastronomical endeavors.

Returning to the church auditorium, a motion picture comedy was flashed on the screen by Wahlberg. There was a brief talk by J. P. Baumgartner, editor of The Register, some readings by Mrs. F. T. Porter, and informal entertainment by the boys, themselves.

A huge birthday cake, prepared as a gift from Baker's bakery, was presented to the boys whose birthday came nearest to that of W. B. Williams. This went to Ralph Heim, who sells papers in Santa Ana. A smaller cake, baked and presented by Miss Emma Glover, was given to George Conway, whose birthday date came nearest that of William McKay.

Mrs. Knight Given Ovation
A call was made for the presentation of Mrs. T. D. Knight, president of the women's society of the church. She was given an ovation that made the church windows vibrate. On leaving the church, each boy was presented with a big red apple.

The banquet room last night was in charge of Mrs. Frank McCarter. Mrs. W. B. Williams and Mrs. A. V. Napier headed the general committee. There were several gifts which added much to the success of the party. The women of the church desire to acknowledge the courtesy of H. E. Yost, whose films were used in the motion picture program. Ice cream was provided without charge by Raitts' dairy. Candy was a gift from the Roehm-Syngester company.

The newboys' banquet, which has become an annual event in the First Christian church, was instituted six years ago by the women of the church.

MONEY-SAVING IS CHIEF AIM OF SUPERVISOR IN ROAD 'BUST'

Schumacher Reveals Attitude Toward Abolishing Of County's Department

'LOOSE HANDLING' OF WORK CHARGED

Vote of J. C. Mitchell, New Board Member, May Determine Proposal's Fate

While it is claimed that the county road department that it saves money by eliminating waste and duplication, that also is the motive of county supervisors who favor its removal, it was revealed today.

"We want to save money for the taxpayers and we expect to save it," explained Supervisor William Schumacher, of Buena Park, who is leading the movement to abolish the road department.

Supervisor Schumacher and Supervisor George Jeffrey, of Irvine, representing the third and fifth districts, respectively, are said to be in favor of discarding the road department and returning to the old system, whereby each supervisor handles the road business in his own district. Supervisor S. H. Finley, Santa Ana, of the first district, and Supervisor Willard Smith, Orange, of the fourth district, are understood to be opposed to such a change.

Mitchell is Undecided

The attitude of Supervisor John C. Mitchell, of Garden Grove, representative of the second district, has not been made known. It is reported that Mitchell has not yet decided his attitude toward the proposal. He was elected to the board in November, to succeed T. B. Talbert, retiring chairman, and will take office next Tuesday. The future of the road department appeared, today, to rest upon his decision.

The Register today asked Supervisor Schumacher why he believed the road department should be abolished and the old district "road boss" system revived.

"We haven't abolished the road department yet," he replied, conceding the possibility that a majority of the board eventually might decide to vote against the change. However, the supervisor, who is said to be slated for the chairmanship of the new board, made no secret of his opinion that the change should be made. Assuming that it would be made, he said:

Claim "Loose" Handling

He declared that, under the present system, there is "loose" handling of the county's road business, which would be eliminated by placing each district's business directly under control of the supervisor.

"We want direct control of our districts," he said. "We do not want to have to ask anybody when we hire or fire a man."

Reiterating his contention that public interest demands a change to the former system, Schumacher said:

"Whatever we do will be done for the good of the taxpayers. We are considering the public, not the individual."

Supervisor George Jeffrey, said to be standing with Schumacher in the road department controversy, could not be reached for a statement of his position.

Three Are Jailed For Celebrating Night Too Early

Although New Year's celebrations are not in order until tonight, Santa Ana police arrested three men last night on drunk charges.

They were lodged in the county jail and probably will be given hearings today in Judge J. F. Talbot's court.

The men were A. H. Wark, 48, real estate salesman, of 1209 East Walnut street, Long Beach; Jean Lampman, 59, painter, of 728 Chestnut street, Santa Ana, and E. S. Minnax, 66, farmer, Santa Ana.

EDUCATION OF CRIPPLED AIM OF STATE BODY

Appreciation of publicity given by the Santa Ana Register to activities carried on by various organizations for the relief and restoration of crippled children is expressed in a letter received from Ervin H. Feigner, secretary of the California Society for Crippled Children, with headquarters in San Francisco.

The communication goes on to state that two bills will be introduced during the 1927 legislature, one for the education of the crippled child and the other for the restoration. It further adds that 21 eastern and middle western states have accomplished these objectives, the state financing the education and restoration of crippled children. The California society expects to accomplish the same in California.

Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, announced a few weeks ago that he intended to make recommendations to the state legislature for the relief of all physically handicapped children who now are deprived of adequate educational facilities.

Indorsement of such legislation has been voiced from time to time by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

HUMAN FLY WILL APPEAR ON STAGE

Jack White, human fly, who this afternoon scaled the walls of the First National bank, has been signed for two days of vaudeville by the Yost Broadway theater.

One thousand feet of film, showing White climbing the largest buildings in Mexico City, will be shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in the Yost Broadway. On Monday and Tuesday, White will appear in person in a vaudeville act.

Among the stunts White will do on the stage is one where an automobile will be driven across his chest. He also will escape from handcuffs and leg irons, which, he says, he will allow either the sheriff or chief of police to lock.

COUNTY WILL ADVERTISE IN THREE PAPERS

Beginning with the New Year's edition of the Long Beach Press-Telegram, an Orange county advertising campaign, featuring full page and half page "spreads," will appear in the Los Angeles Times, Los Angeles Examiner and the Long Beach paper, according to Dr. P. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent, head of the publicity department of the county government.

The next insertion after January 1 will be in The Times, January 11. The first advertisement in the Examiner will appear January 14. The "ads" will appear twice monthly for the remainder of the year. The Smith and Ferris agency of Los Angeles will handle the account and prepare the copy. A special engraving process, to bring out to the best advantage the very fine collection of pictures to be used in the campaign, will be used, Dr. Slabaugh said.

The Orange County Commercial Secretaries' association co-operated with Dr. Slabaugh in arranging the publicity drive.

The chief purpose of the campaign is to attract the tourists and home-seekers, who arrive in Los Angeles as the result of the All-Year club's campaign, to Orange county. The Orange county bids "welcome" to the connecting link between the two exploitation efforts, the publicity chief believes.

"We also want to sell Orange county to everyone in Southern California and to our own people as well," he said. "I believe there are many residents of Orange county who would be glad to know more of the resources and advantages we have here."

PUBLIC MARKET WILL OPEN IN E. D. WAFFLE BUILDING

Plans have been completed for a public market on West Fourth and West Fifth streets, and work will start next week on the remodeling of the E. D. Waffle building, at 417 West Fourth, to adapt it to the purposes of a public market, it was announced today by Waffle.

Cole and Barr have the contract for the work. It is estimated that the job will cost $25,000. The market will extend from Fourth to Fifth street, 250 feet, and will be 50 feet wide.

According to Barr, the interior arrangements and finish will make the market outstanding.

Waffle has contemplated the improvement for several months and vacation of the West Fifth street portion of the building by the O. G. Egge company has made it possible to execute the program of improvement.

The building involved is one of the oldest business structures in the city and has been the home of many types of business.

It originally was built for the purposes of a livery stable and at one time was the location of the West and Waffle livery stable, one of the largest institutions of its kind in the city in the days before the automobile.

FAIR GROUNDS PROPOSAL WILL BE ACTED UPON

Indorsement or approval of the proposed purchase, by the county board of supervisors, of an extension to the present site of the Orange county fair will be one of the matters of business to be considered Monday night at the meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, President Mason Yould announced today.

J. R. Hunt, manager of the successful 1926 fair, has been asked to present the plan to the members.

A report from Franklin West, concerning the proper steps to take to bring about another election on a bond issue for the purchase of sites for parks and playgrounds also will be heard. West was named chairman of the committee to investigate the local aspects of the proposed election at the meeting, this week, of the chamber directors.

Members of the organization are known to feel that this spring would be an appropriate time for a second election, believing that the necessary two-thirds vote in favor of the bonds may be secured through the concerted efforts of the Santa Ana civic organizations.

West has arranged an attractive entertainment program. Edwin J. Carlie, motion picture director, of Hollywood, will speak briefly on the chances of men and women in the ordinary walks of life obtaining stellar honors on the silver sheet. He also will outline plans for the participation of the members of the junior chamber in a special film, "Santa Ana Scenography," to be made by his company here next Thursday.

An announcement concerning the concert of the Santa Ana Boys' chorus also will be made, according to Yould. The attention of the members will be called to the joint meeting with the senior division, to be held the night of January 17. This meeting is expected to attract 400 or 500 members of the two divisions. A de luxe entertainment program is being arranged, the president added.

YOUNG TO HAVE FULL CONTROL IN LEGISLATURE

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 31.—"As goes to Governor-elect C. C. Young, so goes the next legislature."

This may well be accepted as the keynote of the preliminary legislative session, convening in Sacramento at high noon, next Monday. For regardless of the controversial oratory or measures that may develop, the session will be pro-administration and Young-controlled. Harmony between the legislature and the governor will be a distinct change from the rather close struggles of the last two sessions, when the lines between the Richardson and anti-Richardson forces were rather closely drawn. But, if a strictly administration program should come to a decision in the session opening next week, Governor-elect Young will be found to have votes to spare.

Thus, when the new governor indicates that he wants Senator Arthur H. Breed, veteran president protem of the senate, retained in his old position, it means just that. Opposition candidates may be named, but Breed will remain.

Financing Highway Work

Senator Breed, furthermore, may be depended upon to present some kind of bill for the solution of the problem of financing highway construction in California, which bulks large as one of the big issues.

Considerable interest is centering around the skirmish for the speakership of the lower house, with Edgar S. Levey of San Francisco, Isaac Jones of Ontario and Bradford Crittenden of Tracy, the leading contenders.

Relief was felt in several departments of state this week when Governor-elect Young announced there would be no "policy of war" policy invoked immediately upon appointive officials, who hold office at the pleasure of the governor. This means the ax will not fall at once on such heads as chief of the department of agriculture, state forester, state engineer, highway engineer, water chief, librarian, adjutant general, etc., and that probably a number of them will be retained.

Inauguration Tuesday Afternoon

Inauguration ceremonies will take place at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, exactly 18 years after Governor-elect Young's first introduction to the state legislature, when he appeared as a "rookie" assemblyman. The new governor's inauguration address will contain a succinct statement of the policies to be pursued during his administration, and a thorough outline of his legislative program.

At this time, too, the address of

WHAT IS YOUR ANSWER?

Santa Ana, Calif., December 27, 1926.

Editor Register: How long do you suppose the community of Santa Ana of forty thousand people would allow a factory in town which would, for personal gain, make a smoke which positively ruins all property, everything inside of houses and outside of houses; also people's lungs and throats, and prepares the throats in first class shape for diphtheria or any other ailment? Just how long do you suppose the people of any community would stand for a thing like that?

By what right does an orange grower impose upon the general public?

These are things to think about if you have any interest in the community. Does the orange grower reimburse the people for all their losses caused by him saving his few oranges?

Editor's note:—As a rule, almost without exception, the Register does not publish unsigned communications. But the foregoing is a fair question—already answered, editorially—which it seems only fair to pass on for fair consideration.

$12,000 TO BE DISTRIBUTED TO CHEST GROUPS

Community chest allotments to various agencies totaling $12,000, will be distributed by Alex Brownridge, treasurer of the Community Chest of Santa Ana and Tustin, next Monday, January 3, it was announced today by Roland E. Dye, secretary of the chest.

The amounts to be distributed to each organization, representing the first allotment of the 1927 budget fund, are as follows:

American Red Cross, $240; Boy Scouts of America, $2160; Children's Home Society $812.33; Children's Relief association, $240; Salvation Army, $1680; Y. M. C. A., $3960; Y. W. C. A., $2040; Veterans' Welfare association, $120.

The chest campaign for next year's operation of these organizations still is short $6000, it was explained.

The speaker of the evening was A. Heber Winder, who spoke on "The Soul of Masonry." Vocal solos were rendered by Tom Sutton and Gordon Drew.

Finance Company Declares Dividend

Directors of the Peoples Finance and Thrift company have authorized a semi-annual dividend of five per cent, it was announced today by C. P. Kinyon, manager of the company.

The distribution was scheduled for today to stock of record on December 23.

The annual meeting of stockholders will be held at 7:30 p. m., January 6, in the office of the company, 301 North Sycamore street.

Stove Is Wrecked By Hand Grenade

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31.—Hand grenades may be all right in their place, but their place isn't atop a meat roaster in an oven.

The Rev. Alan Gozee was cooking a turkey. He needed something to hold down the cover of the roaster. A trinket which had been lying around the house seemed just the thing.

The "trinket" proved to be a hand grenade, the proof lying in the fact that the kitchen stove was rent and the oven door blown off. Little carving was necessary when Gozee recovered his composure and served his guests.

Record Shipment Of Merchandise On Way to Coast

A. T. Riley, local manager of Schueter's handling Maytag washing machines, is all pepped up over the fact that a record shipment of three solid trainloads of Maytags started from the factory at Newton, Ia., for the Pacific coast last Monday.

"Three solid trainloads of Maytags," said Mr. Riley, "is the largest single shipment of any merchandise ever made to California, and California boosters can be proud of the fact that the large sale of electrical appliances indicates the progressiveness and prosperity of western homes. Per capita, California leads the entire United States in the purchase of Maytags. California can well be proud of its great purchasing power—it was first to buy a carload, first to buy a trainload, and now, first to buy three solid trainloads of Maytags in one shipment."

WEST COAST WALKER

The main reason for the tremendous pleasure which Douglas Fairbanks' pictures have given in the past is that Doug appeals strongly to that part of a man's mind that never grows up. In each of his stories he has been just what every small boy dreams of being, and these dreams never quite fade away as the small boys reach manhood.

His latest picture, "The Black Pirate," now playing at the Walker theatre, catches this spirit to a degree never reached by him before. Pirates!—here's a word that takes you back to your boyhood days. Buried treasure, who wouldn't like to chuck all the petty things of life's daily grind to go in search of it? Small wonder, then, that Doug's new picture will act as a magnet for all the small boys from 7 to 70, that it will thrill them and send them away with a feeling that for two hours they've been living the kind of a life they've always wanted to live.

There is much that is brave and thrilling and spectacular in "The Black Pirate." The picture is entirely in natural colors (incidentally, it is the best color job we have ever seen) and you can easily imagine how lovely are the scenes showing the moon rippling over the water, the pirates thronging the decks and clambering up into the rigging and burying their treasure in golden sands of the tropical island. As for bravery and thrills, the very thought of a man contending single-handed against 200 cutthroats suggests them.

Billie Dove is the heroine, and is the only woman in the picture except Tempe Pigott, who plays a minor role. Miss Dove seems well worth battling for in a spectacular adventure.

MURPHY'S COMEDIANS

The popular new religious comedy-drama, "The Only Road," is playing to capacity houses this week at Murphy's Orana theatre.

The play is well cast and staged, and presents a powerful story with plenty of heart appeal, a lasting moral and a world of good clean, wholesome comedy. "The Only Road" is probably the best play of its kind ever written and will undoubtedly be produced in New York or some other large producing center before long as a feature attraction.

"The Only Road" will close with tomorrow night's performance.

MURPHY'S THEATER

"The Only Road," a three-act comedy-drama by Charles E. Harrison, closes with tonight's performance at Murphy's Orana theatre to make way for "The Bride."

"The Bride" is the latest release for stock in the line of a mystery play. While the production was advertised as a "mystery" play when it played at the Morisco theatre, Los Angeles, a few weeks ago, it might be better termed a "crook mystery comedy," for it is all that and more, for the comedy borders on the farce.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

A fast and frisky association vaudeville bill, featuring a variety of entertainment will be presented at the Yost Broadway theatre tonight.

Six snappy saxophonists, known as Swegles Saxotette are the stellar attraction. For the boys and girls of today the latest popular melodies will be rendered in the jazziest of jazz and then for the sedate and critical music lover, classical music will be played.

Quinn, Binder and Roy, have a skit, "Meet the Lady," that has enough laugh-provoking stunts to fill a full vaudeville. Whether singing, dancing, conversing or doing break-neck acrobatics, the audience is kept in a state of merriment.

An act that will be enjoyed by all, from 6 to 60, is Miss Raffin and her troupe of trained monkeys. Miss Raffin sings, while the monkeys do tight rope walking, acrobatic tricks and stunts on the flying trapeze.

"The Gloom Chaser," Larry Vincent, sings melodies and a few of his own compositions, accompanying himself on the piano.

"Will and Linda Newman," "Unicyclogists," present the novelty with a punch. They race, juggle hats, do acrobatic stunts, walk, whirl and even stage a boxing match on a single wheel.

"Subway Sadie," a film featuring Dorothy Mackall, Jack Mulhall and Charles Murray, will be shown on the screen.

NATIONAL GRID TITLE AT STAKE IN GAME BETWEEN INTERSECTIONAL LEADERS

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 31.—Alabama's Crimson Tide and Stanford's Cardinals polished off training today for their New Year's Day battle in the Rose Bowl, which will decide the mythical football championship of America. The intersectional classic will begin at 2:15 p.m.

The Dixie champions reeled off an hour of signal drill, displaying rare form, physically and mentally. They were followed by the Cardinals in a brief practice of signals which showed the Warner combination was in peak shape also. Aside from a few minor injuries among the reserves, both outfits are primed to throw their full strength into the football classic tomorrow.

Warner Is Satisfied

Coach "Pop" Warner's pessimism has given way to a feeling of satisfaction. He feels that his players are prepared to give an excellent account of themselves, and he has abandoned his gloomy attitude of several days ago.

He has given his versatile team a set of new plays, which the crafty coach declares were executed almost faultlessly during the practice sessions. At the same time, Warner is not overlooking the defensive ability of the Southern outfit, which boasts a forward wall that outweighs the Stanford line eight pounds to the man.

Warner saw Alabama defeat Georgia on Thanksgiving day, and he has some well-founded opinions about the Dixie outfit.

"They have a more versatile attack than any team Stanford has met in the past season, and on defense the Alabama eleven is one of the most powerful in the country," said Warner. "My boys had a tendency at first to underestimate the strength of Alabama, but I believe now they are in the right frame of mind and will put up the kind of a battle they are capable of."

Wade Proud of Team

Coach Wallace Wade is proud of the showing of his team in their Rose Bowl rehearsal. He is counting on Archie Taylor, the "Savannah flash," to rip through the Stanford defense for at least one touchdown. Taylor has been on the sidelines with an injured hand most of the past season.

Capt. Emil Barnes will start at quarterback for the Southerners. "Red" Brown and Johnson or Caldwell are slated to open at the other backfield posts.

Alabama's backs are considerably lighter than Stanford's, but they have good support in front and are great scorers. "Sherlock" Holmes, Alabama's star center, will play, although he may not get in the game until it is well under way. Holmes was out of scrimmage for several days with an attack of appendicitis.

Warner expects to start his regular line-up, composed as follows:

"Bliff" Hoffman, fullback; Hyland and Bogue, halves; Post, quarter; McCreery, center; Robesky and Swan, guards; Harris and Poulson, tackles; and Shipkey and Walker, ends.

EAST-WEST CONTEST TO ATTRACT 20,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 31.—More than 20,000 persons are expected to witness the annual east-west Shrine benefit football game here tomorrow between picked players from 23 universities throughout the country.

While neither team has had little time to prepare much of a program of strategy or perfect a smooth machine of team work, much individual spectacular playing is expected.

"Navy Bill" Ingram, coaching the easterners, indicated today Bill Amos, Washington and Jefferson fullback, would start the game. Walter Diehl, Buckness, will start at quarter; Kirkleski of Lafayette, at one of the half positions, and either Dan Allen, Yale, or George Green, Penn State, at the other half.

Evans captained the Trojan track entry in 1920 and was one of the three U. S. C. men selected for the Olympic team of that year.

"WU" WINSLETT SAYS TIDE IN RIGHT FRAME OF MIND

By HOYT ("WU") WINSLETT

Alabama End and All-American Star PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 31.—Alabama will play a good game and will return home from Pasadena satisfied—if not the national champions.

We may win or lose, but the boys are determined to play their best. If Stanford is victor, we at least want the satisfaction of knowing it has the better team—and that Alabama did all it could.

Coach Wade and the boys have great respect for "Pop" Warner and any team he puts out. We expect to face a smarter team than a year ago when we beat Washington.

Due to this respect, the Crimson Tide is going into the game in an excellent frame of mind. We're not scared stiff and we're not over-confident.

We believe if we play a bang-up game and remain wide-awake, victory will be ours. The team is in good physical condition, in better shape perhaps than at any time during the regular season.

Much depends on how the functions. If the forwards catch hard and fast, as they expect the Cardinals will have to hush to work their tricks.

Warner's players need time to get their plays completed. The more an opponent rushes them, the less effective they are.

Stanford's style is a threat every minute of the game, and our back must be on the guard for aerial assaults. I think they will.

As for our little backs, I believe they can score with good support. If they are blocking up to form there is little doubt. Other teams have scored on Stanford all sea-

Radio to Give Returns From Big Game

The Radio Den, W. B. Ashford, proprietor, and The Register will co-operate to afford Santa Ana football fans play-by-play returns by radio of the Stanford-Alabama football game at Pasadena. A high-powered radio will be installed by The Radio Den at The Register building. Third and Sycamore streets, and everything that happens at the Rose Bowl will be graphically and intelligently broadcast to the crowd here. The contest will not begin until 2:15 p. m. but the usual pre-game "color stuff" will be given beginning about 1:45 p. m.

POLY BASEBALL MENTOR BEGINS DUTIES MONDAY

Willie m. Foote, head coach at Point Loma high for the last two years, who has been signed to handle basketball and baseball at Santa Ana high school this spring, will begin his duties when school resumes Monday.

Foote handled all athletics at Point Loma and developed strong teams in football, basketball and baseball, despite limited equipment and lack of material.

Foote is the second San Diego coach to be signed by Santa Ana high school athletics in the last six months. G. A. ("Tex") Oliver, former San Diego high school Class B football and varsity track mentor, having preceded him.

In addition to having full charge of basketball and baseball, it is probable that Foote will assist Oliver next fall in developing the high school football team.

Foote went to San Diego two years ago, direct from the University of Minnesota, where he was a member of the varsity baseball team. Upon entering the coaching field, he soon made his presence felt in San Diego high school ranks by putting a baseball team in the field that challenged the best teams in the district.

With only a handful of candidates to work with, Foote found the sledding tough at Point Loma, but soon put the school out in front in all branches of athletics, and other county coaches learned to accord his team plenty of respect.

Foote made a reputation for himself as a member of some of the strongest baseball teams in the San Diego district and may continue to play in San Diego each week-end as long as his coaching duties here do not interfere.

Catalina Swim Starting Time Is Set Earlier

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—Because of the large number of last-minute entries the starting time for the $40,000 "Wrigley ocean marathon" January 15, has been changed to 11 a. m.

The Catalina channel swimmers were originally scheduled to take the water at 4 p. m. but figuring that most of the entries would give up in the first few hours the governing committee decided to advance the starting time to make the work of picking up exhausted swimmers easier.

To date there are 115 entries.

As a sport, harness racing never has "caught on" in Great Britain, where thoroughbred racing claims the entire attention of turf followers.

COUNTRY CLUB GOLF TEAM IN TITLE SERIES

Santa Anas to Begin Race January 15 for Southern California Championship

Santa Ana Country club will be grouped in a division with teams from Victoria Country club, Hacienda Country club, Redlands Country club and Red Hills Country club in the annual inter-club matches to decide the 1927 Southern California Golf association championship.

Arrangements for the yearly contests were made at a meeting of representative golfers at the Los Angeles Country club yesterday but a full schedule will not be announced until next Tuesday.

The series will begin Wednesday, January 12, with a series of elimination matches. Thirty-three clubs have entered and their teams have been divided into eight groups. They will play a series of home-and-home matches and then the winners in each group will be eligible to play for the championship. The scoring system this season will be one point for each match.

The grouping of the teams is as follows:

- No. 1—Victoria, Redlands, Red Hills, Hacienda and Santa Ana.
- No. 2—San Diego, Coronado, Long Beach and Virginia.
- No. 3—San Pedro, Palos Verdes, Potrero and Rio Hondo.
- No. 4—Los Angeles Country, Rancho, Wilshire and Bel-Air.
- No. 5—Annandale, Midwick, Flintridge and San Gabriel.
- No. 6—La Cumbre, Ventura, Glendale and El Cabaero.
- No. 7—California, Brentwood, Lakeside and Hollywood.
- No. 8—Pasadena, Mountain Meadows, Los Serranos and Oakmont.

Each team is entitled to 16 men. Following the eliminations in each division the championship rounds will be played on neutral courses.

SANTA ANA PROFESSIONAL IN BIG TOURNAMENT

Art Rigby, professional at the Santa Ana Country club, teed off at 9:40 a. m. today as an entrant in the $2500 Long Beach Open tournament at the Virginia Country club. Approximately 150 golfers were scheduled to take part in the first day of the qualifying rounds. The remainder of the entrants will not do their 18-hole qualifying until tomorrow.

Rigby started with Roy Tufts and W. C. Becker.

With the exception of George Von Elm, national amateur champion, and Macdonald Smith, one of the country's foremost professionals, the golfers went out in threesomes. Because of the gallery which Von Elm drew it was decided that he and Smith should play a twosome.

Outside of the Von Elm-Smith hookup the George Duncan, Joe Turnesa, and Johnny Farrell combination drew the largest number of spectators.

Leo Diegel and Harry Cooper are the class of the contestants who postponed their first round until tomorrow.

The final playoff, 36 holes, will start Sunday with the 64 leading retaining a chance for the purse.

Football Coaches Finish 1926 Meet

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Coaches and directors of intercollegiate athletics were departing for their homes today after their meetings here, leaving the game of football without prospect of drastic change despite the verbal mauling to which it was subjected.

E. K. Hall, chairman of the national intercollegiate football rules committee, announced that few revisions of the gridiron code would be considered for 1927.

BEARS BEAT POETS WHITTIER, Dec. 31.—The University of California's basketball team scored an easy 30 to 17 victory over Whittier college here last night.

Willie Hooper is exhibiting superb ballkline form in practice work for his coming meeting with Erich Hagelacher for the 18.2 crown.

SONS OF STANFORD

Coach Glenn Warner of Stanford believes best football team in the country. He hopes to prove it rosters meet Alabama, champions of the south. Warner's defeated, its most notable victory being a 13-12 win over Sifonia.

BILLY EWES

A FEARFUL PRICE

What price enmity?

More and more that thought occurs to me, as I debate with myself the issues in the present baseball scandal.

Most of the worldly goods that "Dutch" Leonard possesses are those he saved from the fat salary that baseball has paid him for years. He reinvested the earnings in a fruit ranch and got a good break.

TUNNEY MADE BIG OFFER TO MEET DELANEY

Richard's Rival Would Pay Champion 37½ Percent Of $2,000,000 'Gate'

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Just as 26 was passing on its way to a discards, Gene Tunney, heavy-eight champion, received a business offer that would come close making him a millionaire in 27, should he accept it.

The offer was made by Humbert agazy, new star in the fight promotion firmament. It involved a fight next summer at the Polo grounds with Jack Delaney, light heavyweight champion, as Tunney's opponent.

Although details of Tunney's position were not made public, it was believed that Tunney was offered 37½ per cent of the gate receipts. The promoter, after discussing the seating capacity of the baseball home of the New York Giants recently, announced that the probable "gate" would be $2,000,000.

No Contract Signed

Agazy was offered $50,000 to box signed no contract, or precincts must be light champion toward to St. Louis to his engagement, and his thoughts, no manner in which would react on the Richard's time that Tunney with agazy, Richard is an agreement to lease the stadium for the season 1927. He appeared disinclined when told that his rival sought out Tunney.

Richard Confident

"When I get ready I'll make d, and I'll probably get the d, and I'll probably get the d."

"I'll fight for the promoter who fers the best show, the biggest owd and the most money," Tunney said after a conference.

Tunney will not attempt to dictate selection of his opponent, he promised.

"I do not think it has been proper to discuss the merits of my boxer who is likely to be named as my opponent," he said. The man who is put forward to box for the championship will be a high class and there are several good prospects."

OUT of the land built by our hopes and promises he comes, this child 1927. For a short time he is to rule—to lead—to strive with a world to attain its goal. He comes amid prosperity and happiness. That he may leave you happier and with your own goal yet nearer is the sincere wish of

EVENING SALUTATION

By desiring what is perfectly good, even when we don't quite know what it is and cannot do what we would — we are part of the divine power against evil — widening the skirts of light and making the struggle with darkness narrower.

—George Eliot.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED FOR CONSIDERATION

What are we going to do about conserving the rainfall of the burnt-over area in Santiago canyon? Can't we do something? Isn't it possible, isn't it practicable to do something in the way of check-dam conservation?

We believe it is. We believe it would pay the John T. Carpenter Water company, the Sereno Water company, the Irvine Ranch company (and possibly others) and the county at large through the Board of Supervisors to join heartily, in just proportion, in financing immediate conservation measures.

Similar conservation, under like conditions, has been effected in Devil's canyon by the City of San Bernardino, and a committee could easily determine the practicability of this suggestion by inspecting the work done there.

Even casual investigation and observation has convinced us that a big saving of water can be effected in Santiago canyon at a comparatively small expense.

But whatever is done should be done at once. Indeed it must be done very soon to be of any material value this season.

We respectfully pass this suggestion on to the water companies mentioned and the Board of Supervisors, and especially to Col. Finley as a far-seeing public-spirited citizen and practical engineer, for such consideration as it deserves.

We feel confident that the stockholders of the water companies and the taxpayers of the county would approve of any expenditure of funds that their directors and the supervisors might deem to be advisable.

DEPENDS ON WHOSE OXEN

Four years ago, Friend W. Richardson, then governor-elect, issued a protest against last-minute appointments that were being made by the outgoing governor. He declared it was an effort to keep crooked politicians and spendthrifts in office.

Remembering back to this time four years ago, we are getting just a bit of quiet amusement out of the rapidity with which appointments are being made by the present outgoing governor, who, by the way, is the same man who, four years ago, was the incoming governor.

Evidently this thing of making last-minute appointments has a different aspect when viewed looking backward instead of looking forward. We are reminded of the story of the ox that was gored.

There is much to be said in favor of holdover appointments. Through them, a balance wheel is established with a distinct governmental value. However, it has appeared to us that, when the people of the state have declared in favor of a change in administration, it looks as though the change ought to be possible all down the line through various departments of government, so that an administration could be held responsible for whatever happens in any department. As it is, the outgoing governor is in a position to fill many positions with terms of office lasting through the four-year term of the new governor. Notably, this is true in relation to the state railroad commission and the state board of education.

DISTINCTLY BAD PRINCIPLE

In November last, two separate and distinct plans or propositions for the legislature re-appointment of this state were submitted to the voters of California. One of these, that known as the "Los Angeles plan," was emphatically rejected by the people of the state, while the other carried by a fine majority.

One day this week a meeting was held in Los Angeles with the announced purpose of "formulating a policy in reference to re-appointment." In other words the law, as enacted, does not please Los Angeles, therefore a meeting is held to decide upon the best means of evading or annulling it.

Any thought that the people of California have spoken as to this matter, and that all good citizens should abide the verdict thus rendered, seems far from the average Los Angeles mind.

Which suggests the thought that this thing of each fellow taking stock, as it were, of the laws which are supposed to rule and control the people, all of them, of this country, and each one deciding for himself which of them he shall obey, does not seem to make for good citizenship or good government.

A COMMITTEE FOR CHILDREN

The latter part of January the public will be asked to observe Child Labor day. The National Child Labor committee is urging everybody to find out the current facts of the child labor situation.

For persons who do not know what that committee is, it may be well to tell a little of its history. It was incorporated in 1907, by a number of prominent, public-spirited men and women.

Its purpose was to promote the welfare of society with respect to the employment of children in gainful occupations; to investigate and report the facts concerning child labor; to raise the standard of parental responsibility in this matter; to assist in protecting children by suitable legislation against injurious employment; to work for the enforcement of child labor laws; and to aid local child labor committees or to encourage the formation of such where they do not exist.

Its work covers all sections of the United States, dealing with child labor as a community, state or national problem.

Since the child labor amendment failed of ratification, the committee has suggested a set of minimum standards which every state ought to establish by law.

Its departments of research, investigation and legislation work thoroughly and honestly to gather information, to make inquiries into child life conditions in specific sections and to aid in getting sound laws enacted.

Its funds come through membership and donations. All members receive its monthly publication.

"The American Child," containing facts of interest to intelligent citizens everywhere. Here is an activity very much worth knowing about and co-operating with.

In Making Good Citizens

San Bernardino Sun

At a recent conference of educators of Southern California, Dr. L. Thomas Hopkins, of the University of Colorado, said that the public school is neglecting one of its chief functions, that of making good and reliable citizens. He said, the time has come when "the teaching of honesty, courtesy, industry, self-reliance, thoroughness and other moral qualities should have as definite a time and place in the school program as arithmetic and history."

There should be none to dispute that statement. The idea that moral character is best imparted in the home and church has ruled in the public schools, but, if that were ever true in an exclusive sense, it is so no longer. The home has largely ceased to be the place of sterling character building it formerly was. Home life has radically changed in its characteristics. It has ceased to be so much of the family in its spirit and more of everybody for himself and herself. As for the church at least half of the children of America are not in the church schools. They are subject to associations and environment the degree of home training they may receive of the right sort is not always capable of overcoming, while many get no counter home influence at all.

We are compelled to fall back upon the public school and make it a first line of defense against decadent citizenship. The chief purpose of education at public expense is to insure the continuation of the nation and its institutions through the preparation of the young to assume the duties of citizenship. As between the two moral is the more important. Therefore, as Dr. Hopkins says, moral instruction in the public schools should cease to be indirect and incidental and be placed "on a definite, direct and concrete basis." Not until that be done will the public schools of America perform their full function, nor even the most essential factor of it.

There's No Need For Delay

San Francisco Chronicle

Only the lame ducks of the house are opposed to the Norris amendment fixing the meeting of congress in January. Under such a change congressional terms which would have run out in March would terminate two months earlier. And the lawmakers cannot see their way to make this sacrifice of their jobs.

In spite of this congressional opposition, the Norris proposal to submit this constitutional change to the states is a sensible one. Under present conditions congressmen elected in November do not legally become congressmen until March 4 and do not take their seats until the new congress, thirteen months after election. And by that time they are thinking more of the next election than they are of the business of legislating. If they are defeated they carry on until March, and if their views on pending questions are opposed to the sentiment of the electorate they are just so much dead wood.

The idea of choosing new officials and then denying them the opportunity of doing the work they were selected to do until more than a year has rolled by isn't sensible. There was a reason for it in the eighteenth century, when the only means of getting to Washington was by coach or horseback. There was another reason in the lack of public communication which made it necessary to give representatives time to find out the wishes and opinions of their constituents. But railroads, automobiles, airships and newspapers have done away with these reasons.

If it is the fear of losing two months' pay that is keeping the house from adopting this resolution it might be worth while to give them the two months' pay, unless the moralists think that would be a bribe.

A congress meeting in January after election would be an improvement over the present system.

John Bull Pays His Debts

Oakland Tribune

Old John Bull pays his debts. He may grumble a bit and speak out in meeting, but when the time comes he reaches in his pocket. He has paid $642,339,000 of the $4,600,000,000 indebtedness to the United States and only a few days ago handed over $7 millions in interest and 25 millions more to apply on the principal.

Moreover, John Bull wishes it understood that as a government he does not share in the opinion which some of his citizens have been airing for a banquet-hall reception. With the resume which accompanies the latest debt payment is a declaration of policies in which the anti-American attitude in certain quarters is deplored. Then are stressed these three points:

"First—That the United States government has a legal right to ask for just payment of money borrowed from her.

"Second—That the British Government is firmly resolved to meet the obligation.

"Third—That there is no intention whatsoever on the part of the British Government to ask either cancellation or reduction of the debt."

John Bull is angry at the home folks who have posed as interpreters of his thoughts or motives. In a businesslike manner he has accompanied a substantial payment with an emphatic declaration. He is going to pay and asks no favors.

MEDICINE AND SURGERY MAKE BIG GAINS

Medicine has progressed amazingly during the last 25 years. The benefits of organization that is characteristically American have reached every American community.

Medical science has increased so greatly that specialization now is necessary in many fields. Few men are capable of comprehending or applying all the intricacies and refinements of diagnosis and treatment as it is today.

This century has seen the discovery of the causes of whooping cough, infectious jaundice, African sleeping sickness, syphilis and possibly measles. The discovery of the cause, in most instances, has resulted in a method of control.

The modern hospital is built around a pathologic laboratory. The constituents of the human body have been analyzed down to their fundamental substances.

Surgery has taken marvelous strides and has become extraordinarily conservative. Operations are seldom done by competent surgeons without the most exacting diagnosis.

The X-ray has helped wonderfully toward accurate diagnosis. Fifteen years ago an operation on the chest was a hazardous undertaking. Today surgical leaders do not hesitate to operate on the lungs, the lining of the chest wall, various parts of the gastro-intestinal tract and even the heart and the great blood vessels.

In 1827 a man's expectancy of life was 35 years. In the century that has elapsed the life expectancy has increased by 20 years. A child born today may reasonably expect to live to be 55. Through periodic physical examination the span can be lengthened.

There's Many a Slip—

Time, Cradle of Hope

Charles C. Colton

Time gives wings of lightning to pleasure, but feet of lead to pain, and lends expectation a curb, but enjoyment a spur.

It robs beauty of her charms to bestow them on her picture, and builds a monument to merit, but denies it a house; it is the transient and deceitful flatterer of falsehood, but the tried and final friend of truth.

Time is the most subtle yet the most insatiable of depredators, and by appearing to take nothing, is permitted to take all, nor can it be satisfied until it has stolen the world from us and us from the world. It constantly flies and yet overcomes all things by flight, and although it is the present ally, it will be the future conqueror, of death.

Time, the cradle of hope, but the grave of ambition, is the stern corrector of fools, but the salutary counsellor of the wise, bringing all they dread to the one, and all they desire to the other; but, like Cassandra, it warns us with a voice that even the sagest discredit, it too long and the silliest believe too late.

Wisdom walks before it, opportunity with it, and repentance behind it, he that has made it his friend will have little to fear from his enemies, but he that has made it his enemy will have little to hope from his friends.

Worth While Verse

I MUST PAINT A PICTURE

Each morning I have a canvas
All spotted and glowing and white,
And I must paint a picture
Before the coming night.

And words are my lovely colours,
And the canvas is the day,
And I must paint the picture
With the things I say!

And, Oh, if I would have it
All holy and shining and fair,
I must choose my pigments
With an artist's care!

And I must paint serenely,
And exquisitely blend
My colours with the soul of me
For the most perfect end.

—Irene Moyer in "The Lariat."

SAME AGE, BUT NOT TWINS

"How old are you, dear?" asked the neighbor who had just moved in.

"Seven," was the reply.
"And your little sister?"

"She's seven, too."

"Oh, then, you must be twins."

"No, we're not twins."

"But," persisted the neighbor, "if you are both the same age you must be twins."

"But we're not," insisted the child. "You see, there's another of us—we're triplets."—Boston Transcript.

EVERYTHING ARRANGED

"What's that electrical device you have on your folding bed?"

"That rings an alarm bell whenever the bed doubles up."

"Where's the bell?"

"At the undertaker's."—Boston Transcript.

The Patchwork Quilt

VALE
Good night my dear; blow out the candles red;
Their little blaze has made our Christmas cheer
But now both Christmas and the year have fled—Blow out the candles—and good night, my dear.

The months flew by in such a little while,
And now there dawns for us another year.
Give it a welcome, face it with a smile,
Greet it with courage—and good night, my dear.

What does it promise, Who is there ever knows?
A flower, perchance a song, a sigh, a tear.
But whatsoever weary months disclose,
You shall not falter—and good night, my dear.

New Years Greetings.

Chronicles of the Little Gray House
Perhaps not many Californians know the beautiful Muskingum valley back in the Buckeye state, but the hills of old Morgan county tower above the waters of the "Beautiful Blue Muskingum" are among the loveliest of the green clad slopes leading in swelling curves to the Alleghenies and the Blue Ridge.

Since that was the former home of the dwellers in the Little Gray House, you can all imagine the interest attached to the letter and poem which follows.

Dear Patchwork Lady:

You know a while back I wrote you from the Grand Canyon where I was doing a little rainbow exploring and studying the transfiguration of that most wonderful panorama of gorgeous, natural architecture in the whole world!

Well, when Night had finally drawn the last heavy curtain of velvety darkness so we could no longer see the temples and altars where we had worshipped in rapturous awe throughout the day, we sought the man-made comforts of the hotel lobby and joined that va-concourse of post card writers.

Now, it sometimes happens the fellow travelers will wax talkative and genial after they have been well fed, and if they have the same kind of complex. Anyway, another chap and I got as chatty as a couple of old gossip women—comparing our post cards and discussing the particular charms of each view—when he noticed one which I had just addressed to The Quilt Editor. His jaw dropped in astonishment. "Why, I read that column every week back east. I have an author friend who dotes on it because it is edited by some one who hails from his neck of the woods
